TURKS ORDER BULGARS TO QUIT BIG TERRITORY OR BE WIPED OFF MAP

Ottoman Government Orders Bulgarians to Evacuate All Territory South of Line From Enos to Midia

OTHERWISE THEY MUST FIGHT THEM, SAY TURKS

Greeks Take Seres After Bulgarians Have Massacred 200 Citizens—Martial Law Prevails in Town Now

(By Associated Press.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Turkey, July 12.—Negotiations between Turkey and Bulgaria regarding their future frontier line have been a complete failure.

The government sent a note to the commander of the Bulgarian troops last evening demanding that they evacuate forthwith all territory south of the line running from Enos, on the Aegean sea, to Midia, on the Black sea. Otherwise, they would be driven out by the Turkish troops.

Terms of the note permitted no temporizing.

General Izzet Pasha, commander-in-chief of the Turkish army, has left for the front.

The landing of Greek troops near Dedeaghatch, on the Aegean sea is causing the Turkish government some concern. It fears the Greek pretensions are incompatible with Ottoman interests, as they may take the place of Bulgaria's claims, which are now strenously contested by Turkey.

Greeks in Full Control Over Town of Seres

(By Associated Press.)

SALONIKI, July 12.—Greek troops have fully occupied the town of Seres, recently in the hands of Bulgarians. Martial law has been proclaimed there.

The number of Greek residents massacred by Bulgarians before they left Seres was 200, including most of the prominent citizens.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 12.—All the belligerents in the Balkan war have given Russia full power to find a way to bring hostilities to an end.

Sofia Mob and Troops Clash; Royal Palace Surrounded

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, July 12.—Rumors of tumults in Sofia are telegraphed by the Vienna correspondent of the Central News, who reports that a mob stormed the government offices and came into contact with the troops, who fired a volley, killing many people. It is also rumored that the royal palace is surrounded.

Minister Presents Photograph To Incriminate Bulgarians

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, July 12.—The Servian minister at London has submitted to the British foreign office a photographic reproduction of a document found on the body of a Bulgarian officer, which, it is alleged, proves that the Bulgarians began the hostilities. The document contains instructions to commence surprise operations against the Greeks and Servians.

Newspapers Suspended to Keep Populace in Ignorance

(By Associated Press.)

VIENNA, July 12.—A message from Sofia says the mass of the Bulgarian population is in ignorance of the actual military and political situation in the Balkans. The government has suspended the newspapers so as to prevent unfavorable news from spreading while the war office continues to issue reports of the success of the Bulgarian armies in the field.

Until last evening the inhabitants of Sofia knew nothing of the action taken by Rumania, whose troops have crossed the Bulgarian frontier and occupied considerable territory.

Judge Draws Chalk Line in Courtroom As Test for "Drunks"

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Judge Pugh, of the police court, has laid down a rule for the determination of whether a culprit brought before him is drunk or not. The medium is an oblong straight chalk line. If the culprit cannot walk along it without showing wobbly tendencies, he's intoxicated, and if he attempts to walk along it, the fact is prima facie evidence that he fears he's drunk, or as Judge Pugh puts it, "he wouldn't try." So he's drunk anyway.

Judge Pugh handed down his dictum in the case of Emery Wilson, charged with having been drunk on the street in violation of the new excise law. Wilson, not being either a juror or a physician, did not seem at all pleased.

"Henceforth and forever," he said with derision, "chalk lines and I will know each other no more."

He was fined.

TWO FARMERS KILLED BY BLACK DAMP IN CISTERN

Man of 50 Dies Trying to Rescue Friend—Third Man Collapses

MAYFIELD, Ky., July 12.—Two farmers were killed by black damp and a third collapsed from the effects of the gas in a cistern, only twenty feet deep near here today. Bert Holmes, aged thirty-five, was overcome immediately after entering the cistern for the purpose of cleaning it, and his neighbor, Allie Walston, aged fifty, attempted to rescue him. Both men were dead when they were brought to the surface. David Myatt, another would-be rescuer, was hauled out barely alive.

Man Victor in Desperate Fight With Big Eagle

Big Bird Had Killed Pig, Bayed Bulldogs and Routed Woman

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MOULTRIE, Ga., July 12.—A large eagle which had killed a pig, fought two bulldogs to a standstill and had fought and driven back into her house a white woman seventy years old, was finally killed this morning in the northern part of the county by G. W. Hall.

The presence of the eagle was first learned when the squealing of pigs was heard. Mrs. Hall went out to see what the trouble was and found the large bird eating a pig. It resisted her attempts to drive it away, the dogs were turned loose on it, but even they were unable to drive it away. When Mrs. Hall used a long fishing pole on it the bird attacked her and drove her into the house.

Mr. Hall was working in the field nearby and was attracted by screams. On reaching the scene he used a fence rail in his attack on the eagle, but it fought back at him, never surrendering until it was finally killed. The eagle measured near seven feet from tip to tip.

CHIEF BEAVERS ORDERS SLEUTHS TO FIND VICE

Hattie Smith Reluctant Before Judge—Says She Was Just Talking Friday

For the first time since he has been at the head of the police force, Chief James L. Beavers addressed the assembled members of the detective department behind closed doors at hadquarters Friday afternoon, instructing them to unearth vice conditions.

Heretofore the vice squad under Chief Beavers' immediate direction has been almost alone in its activity along that line. Not previously had the chief addressed the detectives on any subject.

In regard to the detectives' participation in the crusade against vice, he told them that if any indication of vice or any suspicious circumstance of that nature comes to their attention, they must "work" it to a solution, or make a clear report of it at headquarters.

Two women and two men caught in the vice net were tried in police court Saturday morning upon revelations growing out of the recent arrest of Hattie Smith. That arrest previously had led to other arrests and the holding of "Mrs." Lena Barnhart and others for the superior courts of Fulton county.

Paul Estes and Hoyt Monroe, employees of a livery garage, and "Mrs." Lola White and Hattie Smith were the four who were tried before Recorder Broyles. All four were bound over to the superior court of DeKalb county, the alleged offense having been committed in that county.

Lawyers for the accused parties endeavored to waive the preliminary trial before Judge Broyles, but the recorder swore Paul Estes and secured his testimony. Also he heard Hattie Smith, but she had become reluctant about testifying. Detectives asserted that she had told them certain details. Asked about that by the recorder, she declared, "Oh, I was just talking yesterday. I'm swearing now."

Lula Bell, Maud Wilson, Mrs. Lee Berkstein, her husband, L. W. Berkstein, and effie Drummond, a young girl, said to have come to the city from Rockmart a few days ago, were arrested by the city police Saturday at 164 1-2 Peters street.

The Bell woman is said to have been conducting a rooming house there, and the Drummond girl is said to have been stopping with her.

Disorderly conduct charges were lodged against the four women and the man. Effie Drummond was confined in a room by herself at headquarters, away from the other women.

Pomerene and Owen to Enter Swimming Race

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—While there is no open display of wagering on the results, senators are placing bets on their favorite in a coming swimming match between Senator Pomerene, champion of Kilbuck creek, Holmes county, Ohio and Senator Owen, of Oklahoma.

The date for the contest has not been set but it will be held at the bathing beach of the District of Columbia probably within the next few days.

Beavers Winner in Police Chiefs' Meet; He Has Blue Ribbon

Say, did you know that Beavers is the champion athlete among the police chiefs of the United States?

Fact! He's got the blue ribbon to show it.

And all that Atlanta heard about it until Saturday, was a dispatch several days ago which told that Chief James L. Beavers, of Atlanta, had been one of the winning team in a centipede race or something of the sort, at the Washington convention of police chiefs. The dispatch said that Chief Beavers literally heaved his own team to victory by a narrow margin.

Saturday morning Carlos Mason, chairman of the police commission, called at police headquarters on some business or other.

"Chief, how about all that athletic prowess of yours up in Washington that the papers told about," he digressed. "Tell us, now. Come clean. Wasn't it just a lot of con?"

For answer Chief Beavers fished into a bulky pocketbook and dug out a crippled blue ribbon. He handed it to Chairman Mason.

"Look that over for yourself," said he, with a grin. "I don't know what the papers printed."

Nobody around headquarters had seen the blue ribbon before.

"I almost forgot I had it," said the chief.

Here is what was printed in gilt letters on the ribbon:

"Athletic events.

"Twentieth Annual Convention, "International Association of Chiefs of Police.

"Washington.

"Marshall Hall.

"June 11, 1913."

The ribbon is some three inches wide and about a foot long. It occurred to Chief Beavers Saturday morning that it might look nice on his office wall. It will hang there henceforth.

Five Women Tricked By Macon Lothario; His Total Wealth $20

DENVER, Colo., July 12.—When C. F. Thompson, of Macon, Ga., arrived in Denver three weeks ago he had $20, one suit of clothes and the guile of a Don Juan.

Until lodged in jail yesterday he had become engaged to five young women, made arrangements to buy five trousseaus and two high-priced automobiles, and was only caught because he pawned a stolen phonograph for money to take his fifth fiancee on a joy-ride.

The phonograph episode put the police on his trail and he was arrested when he appeared at a local store to pick out a trousseau for his last conquest. It is expected that his five sweethearts will appear in court against him at his trial next week.

EMBASSY OF U. S. MENACED BY BOMB IN MEXIC CAPITAL?

Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson Receives Anonymous Letter With Threat to Blow Up Mexico City Residence

FOREIGN OFFICE WILL CONDUCT INVESTIGATION

Thirty Thousand Laborers Appeal to President for Arms, So That They May Enlist Under Federal Colors

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, July 12.—An anonymous letter containing threats to blow up the United States embassy was received by Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson today, and immediately referred to the Mexican foreign office for investigation.

As an indication of the fervor of patriotism that has been aroused in Mexico the department of the interior announced today that representatives of 30,000 workmen had appealed to the government for military instruction in order that they might be ready to fight for the national existence.

The American ambassador protested energetically to the Mexican government today against permitting another anti-American demonstration.

WOMEN OFFER TO FIGHT.

The newspaper El Pais says it has been visited by a committee of women school teachers who offered to enter the ranks of the army and fight in case of an international conflict.

Students of the capital are organizing a demonstration for Sunday in which they have invited all classes to participate. Although the organizers have cautioned those who will participate to keep order there is grave fear on the part of conservative Mexicans and also among the American colony that the demonstration will provoke serious trouble.

Despite protests of Ambassador Wilson in regard to the attitude of the newspapers, especially of El Pais, the latter journal devotes its entire first page to the anti-American movement, its articles being highly sensational.

Editorially it cautions prudence but utters a strong intimation that the time for action when Mexico and the United States. It urges the public not to place itself in the position of having provoked a war and to leave the responsibility to the United States. It declares that a great wave of patriotic enthusiasm has been aroused throughout the country.

LEGISLATORS IN ATHENS; TO INSPECT UNIVERSITY

Assemblymen Are Guests of Athens Chamber of Commerce on Saturday

The halls of the capitol presented a deserted appearance Saturday morning. Gone were the groups of animated legislators, the throngs of lobbyists. The house hall and speaker's chair of representatives, the senate chamber empty, even the doorkeepers and the pages had vanished.

They were all in Athens. At 8 o'clock Saturday morning the members of both houses boarded a special train at the Union depot, accompanied by the state house officials and the capitol attaches, all looking forward to the day of entertainment offered them by the Athens chamber of commerce. Many of the lawmakers had gone home to spend the week-end, but there were enough left to crowd the Athens special from end to end.

The train arrived in Athens at 10:15 o'clock. The Athens chamber had provided automobiles and the party was escorted to the state normal school.

At noon all will sit down to a big barbecue at Tibbets' park. At 2 o'clock they will again enter the machines and visit the state university and the state agricultural college. At 6 o'clock the special returns to Atlanta, although many of the legislators will likely stay over in Athens until Monday.

All Athens Entertaining Members of Legislature

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ATHENS, Ga., July 12.—All Athens today is engaged in entertaining the members of Georgia's general assembly. Despite the rain, which fell steadily this morning, the city turned out en masse in gala attire.

The phonograph episode put the police Governor Harris, Chancellor C. Erwin and Secretary E. C. Callaway, of the chamber of commerce, have perfected a splendid program of entertainment of the legislature.

First on the program is a visit to the State Normal school, and after inspecting this school an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue at Tibbets' park.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock a visit to the State Agricultural college grounds is planned, and then an inspection of the property and grounds of the state university.

WILSON'S OUTINGS HAVE BENEFITED HIM GREATLY

President's Daily Forty-Mile Auto Ride and Golf Games Give Him Strength

(By Associated Press.)

CORNISH, N. H., July 12.—President Wilson will return to Washington much benefited by his outing. Today he motored to Hanover for one more game of golf.

The forty-mile drive to the links daily has done him good, according to his physician, Dr. Grayson, who says also that the climb over the hilly golf course has strengthened the president's lungs.

WIDOW WANTS SUITS IN PAINTER CASE QUASHED

Insurance Companies She Says, Have Forfeited Right to Another Autopsy

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BALTIMORE, July 12.—Asking that the original bill and petitions of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, for possession of the viscera of Edward O. Painter, the wealthy planter of Florida, be dismissed with costs, Mrs. Martha S. Painter, wife of the millionaire, filed answer in circuit court today to suit instituted by the corporation.

Mrs. Painter asserts that the claimant as well as the other representatives of insurance companies were present at the time the medical experts made their reports on condition of the viscera of the deceased, and as they did not ask permission to examine the viscera then or before the funeral, they have waived the right of a further autopsy.

Want a Monkey With Fine Jeweled Collar? Here's How to Get Him

A monkey wearing a jeweled collar is considered a bad omen, in these parts, and the sight o fone means usually that a fellow ought to buck up and get a grip on himself.

But there's nothing imaginative about Mrs. H. Winsta, who resides on the Howell Mill road near Peachtree creek. She's a common-sense housewife who never sees things unless they are there.

Consequently when she called police headquarters on the phone Saturday morning and reported a monkey with a jeweled collar as being somewhat prevalent in that part of the county, jumping lightly from limb to limb and making his home anywhere in the woods along Peachtree creek, the department put it down that there was a monkey there and let it go at that. Nobody was sent out to arrest the monkey, but it had been some consolation to Mrs. Winsta to listen to her story.

"He's been eating apples," said Mrs. Winsta, referring to the monkey, "and such things. Law, no, I'm not scared of him. I've been trying to catch him. He came right up to the house about three days ago, and cut up a lot of shines and grinned at everything, but he wouldn't let me catch him."

Mrs. Winsta reported that a short length of light chain is attached to the monkey's collar.

The police assert that if anybody has lost a monkey he can go get him.

MORE AFFIDAVITS TO SUPPORT MINCEY CLAIMED

Frank's Attorneys Said to Have Corroborating Evidence, Newt Lee Denied Freedom

Joseph H. Leavitt, an attorney, with offices at 422 Grant building, the man who secured the affidavit of W. H. Mincey, who alleges that James Conley confessed to the killing of a girl on April 26, the day Mary Phagan was murdered, declares that a number of affidavits fully corroborating every word that Mincey has said, are in the hands of counsel for the defense of Leo M. Frank.

Mr. Leavitt states that the Mincey affidavit is really much stronger than the published reports, which have purported to give its substance.

The reports are correct as far as they go, Mr. Leavitt admitted to a Journal reporter, but the affidavit dictated and signed by Mincey contains still more testimony, damaging to Conley.

"Mincey is a good citizen," Mr. Leavitt told a Journal reporter. "a man of education and of character. However, every assertion which he made in the affidavit has been corroborated."

"Then you must mean that some one else heard the confession Mincey claims that Conley made?" the reporter asked.

"Yes, others heard it," was the answer of Attorney Leavitt.

While he states that he doesn't know his address, Mr. Leavitt says that he is anxious that Mincey will be here when Leo M. Frank faces a jury on the charge of murdering Mary Phagan.

Mincey in his affidavit claims that he went to see Conley on the afternoon of April 26, the day Mary Phagan was murdered to solicit insurance from him, and that Conley became angered and told him that he had killed a little girl that day and did not want to have to kill another person.

The police make light of the Mincey affidavit, and say that Mincey once came to headquarters to identify a man he had seen drunk in the negro quarter. He saw Conley, they say, and then admitted that he had never seen the negro before.

Attorney Leavitt says that the affidavit will give a good reason for Mincey's failure to make known at once the information, which he claims to have on the sensational murder case.

Solicitor General Dorsey and Attorney Frank A. Hooper, who will assist him in the prosecution of Frank, grilled James Conley at headquarters for more than an hour Friday afternoon. While Mr. Dorsey would not discuss the matter, it is understood that he questioned Conley closely about the statements alleged to have been to Mincey, and the negro claims that he never saw insurance agent except at police headquarters.

LEE DENIED FREEDOM.

The only result of the hearing of the habeas corpus writ for the release of Newt Lee Saturday morning was the announcement of the sheriff that the negro would be given increased opportunities for taking exercise.

The negro himself stated to the court that he was perfectly willing to remain in jail until the Mary Phagan murder case has been disposed of. He said that he was well treated and well fed, and that his only complaint was that he was stiff from a want of exercise. Sheriff Mangum then told the court this was the first he had heard of the negro's want of exercise, and that he would see that he had plenty in future.

Attorneys Graham and Chappell, counsel for Lee, made two points in their petition for a habeas corpus. First, that the negro night watchman had been bound over by the coroner's jury, and that the two grand juries had failed to act on his case; and, second, that Lee was not a material witness.

The attorney admitted, however, in his petition that the negro did find Mary Phagan's body.

Solicitor Dorsey declared that Lee was one of the most material witnesses of the state, and that he could testify

SECOND WARRANT CHARGES MURDER TO MRS. CRAWFORD

Justice Johnson Refuses to Hold Widow on Carroll County Warrant, but New Warrant Is Sworn Out

WIDOW NOT WORRIED OVER CORONER'S VERDICT

Order for Widow's Arrest Followed Discovery of Morphine in Stomach of Crawford by Dr. H. F. Harris

Following the decision of Justice Don K. Johnson, refusing to hold Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford on the warrant sworn out in Carroll county, another warrant was sworn out in Justice Girardeau's court, charging Mrs. Crawford with murder. At 2:30 o'clock the warrant had not been served. The warrant was taken out at the instance of some of the relatives of the late Joshua B. Crawford, who are claimants to an interest in his estate.

The warrant of the Carroll county coroner for the arrest of Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford has been declared invalid and will not be served by Sheriff Wheeler Mangum.

The sheriff called Justice of the Peace Don K. Johnson to the superior court Saturday morning to consider the matter of holding Mrs. Crawford on the Carroll county warrant. Justice Johnson conferred with Judge J. T. Pendleton, of the superior court, and with Burton Smith, counsel for Mrs. Crawford, and after the conference the sheriff was advised that the warrant was invalid.

As a result no formal hearing of the warrant was necessary, and no further effort to secure the arrest of Mrs. Crawford is expected.

C. W. Baskin, the Carroll county coroner empaneled the jury to hold an inquest in Carrollton on July 10, 1913, over the body of Joshua B. Crawford, who died March 27, 1904, in Fulton county. The jury found that Crawford died as the result of morphine poisoning administered by his widow, Mrs. J. B. Mary Belle Crawford.

WARRANT IS ISSUED.

This despite the fact that Dr. J. W. Hurt, who attended Crawford, and other consulting physicians testify that he died of pneumonia.

However, the warrant was formally issued by the Carroll county coroner, charging Mrs. Crawford with a murder in Fulton county. Since the alleged crime was said to have been committed here, the Carroll county coroner has no jurisdiction in the matter, Justice Johnson held.

Mrs. Crawford was informed by Sheriff Mangum at about 10 o'clock Saturday morning that he held a Carroll county warrant for her. She immediately told him that she would wait in the court room until the matter was called and could pass on the matter.

WIDOW NOT WORRIED.

Mrs. Crawford was not at all worried by the effort to secure her arrest, and she declared that the attempt to bring criminal action against her was instigated simply in an effort to influence the civil litigation over the late J. B. Crawford's $250,000 estate.

The number of suits attempting to wrest the greater portion of the estate from Mrs. Crawford, and there has been litigation over the matter in the courts constantly since the death of J. B. Crawford.

For the past two months the case has been in session continuously before an auditor, and the hearing is expected to continue indefinitely.

Attorneys Reuben R. Arnold and Burton Smith, counsel for Mrs. Crawford, have never seriously considered the poisoning charge, which was first brought in the petition of the so-called heirs to have Mrs. Crawford removed from her position as administratrix of the estate.

Mr. H. Abner Camp Dead

Mr. H. Abner Camp, a prominent farmer and banker of Grantville, Ga., died at a private sanitarium in Atlanta Saturday morning at 6 o'clock. The body was removed to Greenberg & Bond's chapel, and will be taken to Grantville late Saturday afternoon for funeral and interment.

GOV. SLATON RECEIVES OVATION AT BRUNSWICK

Party Greeted With Ovation on St. Simons Trip—Wedding Anniversary

BY HARLLEE BRANCH,
Journal Staff Correspondent.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., July 12.—This is governor's day in Brunswick and on St. Simons Island. Governor Slaton and his party arrived here at 7:39 o'clock this morning on a special train over the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad.

General Manager E. T. Lamb, of the A., B. & A., had his private car attached to the train and entertained the governor and his party on the trip down. Supper and breakfast was eaten aboard train.

Brunswick was early astir and a big crowd of citizens was at the station to meet the train.

The joint committee from the city council and the Brunswick board of trade, headed by Mayor J. Hunter Hopkins and Chairman F. D. Aiken, took charge of the governor's party immediately upon their arrival and drove them over the city in automobiles.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Saturday was the fifteenth anniversary of Governor and Mrs. Slaton's wedding, and this fact was pleasantly and graciously brought to mind when Colonel Frank E. Twitty, of Brunswick, presented them with a magnificent bouquet of flowers and made them a brief congratulatory speech.

At 9:30 a. m. the party took the boat for St. Simons island, where they were met by Colonel E. D. Huntley and several officers of the Fifth regiment, now in camp on the island. These officers have arranged a reception for the governor and Mrs. Slaton at the new St. Simons hotel for 8:30 o'clock this evening.

A special boat, gaily decorated with bunting and pennants and flying the United States and Georgia flags at bow and stern, transported the governor's party from Brunswick to St. Simons island. Ship after ship was passed, and every one saluted with both flags and whistles. As the steamer neared the wharf the governor's party from St. Simons pier to Fifth regiment camp hove into sight the soldier boys fired the governor's salute.

During Saturday and Sunday the governor will inspect the Fifth regiment camp. His party will leave Sunday evening for the return trip to Atlanta, arriving there early Monday morning.

THOSE IN PARTY.

Among those who came down on the special train were:

Governor and Mrs. Slaton, Colonel and Mrs. F. J. Paxon, General J. Van Holt Nash, Miss Lida Nash, Colonel and Mrs. George M. Hope, Colonel Joe Brown Cumming, Colonel W. J. Stovall, Dr. and Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Mary B. Meador, F. A. Quillian, Miss Quillian, Colonel B. J. Conyer, of Macon; Dr. A. W. Sterling, Dr. W. S. Goldsmith.

Although they traveled a portion of the journey on private cars, Governor Slaton and every member of his party purchased tickets, both railroad and Pullman. The officials of the road in charge of the governor's special were General Manager E. T. Lamb, Superintendent E. E. Brown, Traveling Passenger Agent A. D. Daniels, Trainmaster C. E. Parsons, of Fitzgerald, and Trainmaster F. M. Woodall, of Manchester.

Maids of St. Simons Enliven Camp of Fifth

BY T. J. BRYSON.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., July 12.—The fourth day of the camp of Atlanta's regiment saw everything running as smoothly as though the organization had been on duty in the field for months. The confusion of getting everything settled after the trip from Atlanta has entirely disappeared and now the troops went out to drill this morning as though they had never done anything else.

Up to last night the men had been too tired and too busy to pay much attention to the social end of the happenings, but beginning this evening and from 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when there were several hundred ladies present, the soldier boys began to assert themselves in a social way. They stormed the beach and the hotels late in the afternoon and evening and, finding that the young ladies of Brunswick found brass buttons no less attractive than young ladies have always found them, soon got to route every civilian swain in sight.

The regimental band, which is said to be the best that has ever attended a camp with the regiment, gave a concert at the new St. Simons flotel in the evening, and both officers and enlisted men danced until considerably after "taps" had been blown and the camp itself was in darkness. For the first time in the history of the regiment the men were allowed to bring white uniforms with them, and there was little or nothing to choose between the appearance of the officers and the men when the regiment, almost as a unit, lined for the dance at the island's new hostelry. The men realized this, too, and were not slow in enjoying themselves to the limit.

The instruction continues to take up practically all of the morning of each day, contrary to the practice in the past, when there was little time in the morning for all kinds of recreation. On this tour of duty, however, the men are being taught many things which, when it would be impossible to teach them in the armory. While the officers are being initiated in the handling of companies of war strength, which is more than four times as large as those they handle at home, this instruction takes up practically all of the morning, and leaves the afternoons for the men to devote entirely to amusing themselves.

Governor Slaton, General Evans, General Nash, Lieutenant Colonel Barth and a number of members of the governor's staff are expected to reach the island today, and preparations for receiving and entertaining while here are going forward promptly. So far no definite program has been settled upon, but Colonel Pomeroy and other officers of his staff are at work on the arrangements, and it is expected that they will be complete during the day. Generally speaking, it is planned to show the visitors everything not only in camp and on the island, but in the vicinity. A trip probably will be made to several of the nearby islands, especially those of historic interest.

Governor and His Party Are Dined on "Army Grub"

By T. J. BRYSON.

FIFTH REGIMENT HEADQUARTERS, ST. SIMONS ISLAND, Ga., July 12.—Governor John Marshall Slaton, accompanied by Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash, Brigadier General Evans, commander of the Second brigade of the First division, Colonel Fred Paxon, his chief of staff and members of Brunswick Board of Trade and a number of others reached the camp this morning shortly before 11 o'clock and the program which had been arranged for the entertainment and instruction of the party was taken up almost immediately.

The governor's party was met at the train by a committee of officers of the regiment headed by Colonel E. E. Pomeroy and the entire party was driven to the regiment's camp site a short distance away, in automobiles. The regular governor's salute of 17 guns was fired in honor of the head of the state's chief executive and the regiment was lined up for a review shortly afterward.

The review offered the governor his first chance to see Atlanta's own regiment with as many as 600 men in line and he expressed himself as being surprised and delighted at the magnificent showing made by the organization. Following the complimentary review, Colonel Pomeroy and the other officers of the regiment very highly on the showing made.

Immediately after the review, the visitors were given an opportunity to see what the regiment was like in action at, as well as out of camp. The first battalion under the command of Major I. T. Catron, better known in the regiment as "Commissary" Catron, was formed into a war-strength company and the methods of attack which would be employed by a company in actual battle were shown. It so chanced that the regiment had been drilled on Friday in this particular maneuver and according to the opinion of several officers of the regular service who witnessed the drill, it was carried through practically without a hitch.

THEY TRY "ARMY GRUB."

The governor and his party got their first chance at "army grub" shortly after 12 o'clock. They were loud in their praises of the table set at the regimental headquarters mess and the manner in which they went out after the substantial things set before them spoke even more forcibly in its praise than did what they said.

The afternoon will be taken up in sightseeing. An auto trip to the famous Fredireca will consume a good portion of the time and bring the party back to camp just in time to see the regular dress parade at 6 o'clock.

At 8:30, a reception will be tendered the visitors by the governor, the members of his party, and the ladies of the camp together with still other citizens from Brunswick at the New St. Simon Hotel with the officers of the regiment doing the honors as hosts.

Savannah Press Boys Give Mr. Stovall Flag To Fly in Switzerland

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Stovall, editor of the Savannah Press, who leaves the latter part of this month for Berne, Switzerland, where he will represent his country as minister, was entertained by the employes of the Savannah Press.

W. G. Sutlive, managing editor, presided as toastmaster and in behalf of the employes presented Mr. Stovall with a handsome American flag, which he will fly at the consulate in Berne.

ACCUSED SLAYER OF GIRL SEEKS RELEASE

(By Associated Press.)

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 12.—Counsel for Herbert Johns, the young mine worker held without bond in connection with the mysterious death of Alice Crispell, announced he would apply for a writ of habeas corpus for the youth's release. The finding of a teaspoon of Johns was made last night after a hearing before a justice of the peace. He was held for the grand jury despite the fact that a coroner's jury the night before exonerated him, witnesses at last night's hearing admitting that they saw both of the girl and Johns on the night of the Fourth when she was last seen. All admitted they had been drinking and that Johns and the girl were in a buggy when the girl's body was found in Harvey's lake, said he did not take Miss Crispell home because of this illness.

The district attorney will investigate the statement today.

NEAR WATER FAMINE IN ROME, GEORGIA

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., July 12.—Owing to increased consumption of water during the recent very hot weather, the supply in the reservoir has decreased from fifteen feet to six feet. In order to prevent a water famine, the city authorities are shutting off the water supply each night from 11 to 5 the next morning. As a result of these strenuous measures, the amount in storage will soon reach normal, it is believed. The local waterworks department claims that the difficulty is due to leakage and waste on the part of water consumers. The trouble will be permanently remedied in the near future by the installation of new electrically driven pumps and a different filtration system.

NEW YORK POLICEMEN GET WIRELESS CALL

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 12.—Police headquarters yesterday received its first wireless call for help. "We want police," the message read, which was flashed from the steamer Argentina as she arrived off quarantine from Mediterranean ports. A police launch with six detectives aboard answered the alarm.

Detectives climbed up both sides of the liner and sought Captain Cosolich, who told them he had lost his watch. The detectives searched the cabin and found the timepiece where the skipper had placed it a few nights ago.

"My word," said the captain in German, "the joke is on me. You must be my dinner guests." The detectives accepted.

Samuel A. Kean Dead

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 12.—Samuel A. Kean, for years a banker and bond dealer in LaSalle street, known for his promotion of holding a brief religious service in the Board of Trade opening of each business day, died yesterday at his home in Evanston, Ill.

His firm was prominent in the city's business life twenty years ago. Each morning up to the time of his retirement from banking Mr. Kean's first act upon entering his bank was to summon all employes to his private office. He announced the number of a hymn, led the singing, made an introductory talk and had employes take turns in reading the lesson. Then he interpreted it for them. Mr. Kean was seventy-six years old.

To The Young Expectant Mother

Women of Experience Advise the Use of Mother's Friend.

There is some trepidation in the minds of most women in regard to motherhood.

The longing to possess is often contradicted by the fear of distress.

But there need be no such dread in view of the fact that we have an effective remedy in what is known as Mother's Friend. This is an external application that has a wonderful influence and control over the muscular tissues of the abdomen. In almost every community there are women who have used Mother's Friend, and they are the ones that recovered quickly.

Mother's Friend is prepared after the formula of a noted family doctor by the Bradfield Regulator Co., 238 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write them for their instructive book for expectant mothers. You will find Mother's Friend on sale by all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle.

According to the police, McHenry married wife No. 2 at Pittsburg in 1908. WASHINGTON, July 12.—Warning to the public against the automatic cigar cutter on the ground that it is an agency for the spread of disease, was issue today by the United States public health service. The statement points out that many smokers on purchasing a cigar and before clipping off the end, place it between their lips, while paying for the purchase.

"This would seem," the statement declares "to be a very effective method of mouth secretions and possibly the spread of infection. It is suggested that the use of such automatic clippers should be avoided by the public."

HOUSE TO TAKE ACTION ON STATE ROAD'S LEASE

Bills Relating to Re-leasing of W. & A. Railroad Approved by Committee

That it is the desire of the house committee on the Western and Atlantic railroad to take definite and speedy action in regard to the lease of the state's property was manifested Friday when two bills, one providing for a commission to investigate and report on the lease, and another directing that no sale of road be authorized except by a vote of two-thirds of the people, were acted upon favorably. A resolution to investigate the feasibility of buying the A. B. & A. railroad was recommended.

The committee was unanimous in its recommendation of the A. B. & A. resolution, but it was adopted with an amendment, changing the number of the commission from seventeen to five, three to be appointed by the speaker of the house and two by the president of the senate. It was the contention that the best results could be obtained by a small commission.

Another bill favorably recommended was that of Barry Wright, of Floyd, creating a commission of seven, three from the house, two from the senate and the two remaining members to be appointed by the governor, with Governor Slaton and Chairman Candler, of the railroad commission, ex-officio members, to investigate and report on the lease of the W. & A. An appropriation of $5,000 is carried to pay all necessary expenses of the commission.

In the course of the discussion, Mr. Wright advanced the idea of leasing the space above the tracks from the Union passenger station to the Forsyth street viaduct, as a business district.

The only other measure affecting the lease of the state road was introduced by Mr. Meadows, of Wayne. This measure deals directly with the terms of the proposed lease.

FRANK STANTON'S SONS FRIGHTEN THIEF AWAY

Effort to Burglarize Stewart Pharmacy Frustrated by Lads Across the Sreet

A well dressed young white man was frustrated in an effort to burglarize the Stewart Pharmacy, corner of Highland and Cleburne avenues, about 1:15 o'clock Saturday morning by the sons of Frank L. Stanton.

The burglar shattered the glass of the door on the Cleburne avenue entrance to the pharmacy with a rock and was attempting to unlock the door from the inside, when one of the Stanton boys, who had been awakened by the crash, shouted at him.

So hurriedly did the burglar withdraw his arm from the inside of the door that his hand was badly gashed on the broken glass.

He then ran down Highland avenue, leaving a trail of blood for about 100 feet.

The police were quickly called and came to the pharmacy in an automobile. The burglar had vanished by that time and the police are of the opinion that he had either a cab or an automobile waiting for him.

Young Mr. Stanton, who saw the burglar, described him to the police as being about 6 feet tall, and wearing a blue serge suit and a straw hat.

APPLE SHIPPERS MAY MEET IN ATLANTA IN 1914

The fact that the Atlanta Convention bureau is actively engaged to secure the 1914 convention of the International Apple Shippers' association for Atlanta is disclosed in a letter which Louis B. Magid, of Atlanta, has given out for publication. The letter is a reply from Mr. Magid to the convention bureau, urging several reasons why the convention should be brought to Atlanta and promising Mr. Magid co-operation.

Mr. Magid's letter argues that the great consumption of apples in the south invites closer acquaintance between the apple shippers and the southern purchasers. He advances as another argument that great strides have been made in the development of apple culture in the Appalachian region from northeast Georgia to Pennsylvania.

The southeast is discovering itself not only in the possibilities of appleraising, but it is becoming the corn belt of the United States and will be and surely ought to be the beef producing center, writes Mr. Magid. He promises to entertain the convention at a barbecue on the Appalachian apple orchards in northeast Georgia.

ASKS MORE ATTENTION TO ATLANTA FOOD LAWS

J. C. Reynolds, of 275 Spring street, a citizen of Atlanta for the past fifty years, has written The Journal declaring that despite the city pure food laws, certain merchants are selling cold storage eggs under the guise of fresh eggs from the country.

He calls attention to the ordinance passed by the general council which provides that when cold storage eggs are sold, that the box containing them must be stamped with that information and that it is the duty of the pure food inspectors to see that the law is complied with.

Mr. Reynolds declares that only recently he bought some eggs from a local merchant that were represented as fresh country eggs, and found them to be spoiled. He refers likewise to the fruit that is being sold in Atlanta, especially in reference to bananas, which he claims are for the most part overripe.

There is a laxity of vigilance on the part of the inspectors, the writer declares, and he asks that more attention be given to the enforcement of the law.

BIG ALABAMA FIRM ASKS RECEIVER FOR BOWDON RY.

Federal Court in Atlanta Is Petitioned by Bill in Equity

W. D. Johnson and S. W. Johnson, doing business as Johnson Bros., in Alabama, filed in the federal court in Atlanta Friday a bill in equity against the Bowdon Construction company and the Bowden Railway company. In that bill they petition the construction company be required to pay for $25,000 worth of stock which it holds in the railway company. They ask also that a receiver be named for the railway company, and that the conduct of its affairs be investigated.

They contest the bill as an agreement under which the railroad company agreed to pay the construction company $30,000 in money and allow it to cancel its subscription cost for $25,000 worth of stock, in compensation for the building of the railroad.

The petition names J. L. Lovvorn, of Bowdon, as president of the railway company, and the late United States Senator Joseph M. Terrell, of Georgia, as its vice president and general counsel.

REPAIR WORK ON PUMP PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

People Are Asked, However, to Economize in the Use of Water

The work of repairing and overhauling the Frank P. Rice pump at the river station, which commenced early this week, has progressed rapidly thus far, and Zode Smith, general manager of the waterworks, believes that if nothing occurs to delay the work, it will be finished in less than six weeks.

This was the time estimated to make the repairs, but by working night and day and putting on as many men as can be used, Manager Smith expects to finish sooner.

Meanwhile, the two small pumps, which have a combined capacity of 18,000,000 gallons per twenty-four hours, are working splendidly, and every precaution will be taken to keep them in perfect running order.

However, this quantity of water is not quite sufficient to supply the city's normal demand and the people are therefore asked to stop all waste and to use no more water than they need.

The members of the convention will arrive in Atlanta in ample time to do their fall buying, and a representative of the association is now at the hotel to arrange details for the comfort of the delegates.

Grand—Talking Pictures.
FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BIJOU—Tabloid Musical Comedy.

The Forsyth announces an interesting program of Keith vaudeville for next week, and there is every indication that the bill will measure up to that standard. The headline feature will be Valerie Bergere and her company in "Judgment." Miss Bergere appeared at the Grand at the beginning of this season with her company in "His Japanese Wife," and scored a hit. She comes now with a dramatic playlet founded on actual fact.

Les Gougets, in a musical novelty, will be one of the unusual attractions, and Britt Wood, the juvenile character comedian, will give entertainment with his harmonica. The Metropolitan minstrels and other pleasing Keith acts will be on the bill.

Edison's talking pictures, after a two week's stay at the Grand, will be released on Saturday night, but starting on Monday from 2:30 until 10:30 each day, high-class motion pictures will be shown.

Arrangements have been made for a daily change of program, making the offering one of unusual interest.

The Grand management will present unusual photo-play features from now on.

The two matinees today and the performances tonight will close the engagement of "Along Broadway" at the Bijou.

Next week's offering will be "Hotel a la Carte," fast, snappy and mirthful, presented by a competent company of principals, assisted by a beauty chorus.

MURRAY COUNTY FIGHTS COUNTY SEAT REMOVAL

The bill of Representative Anderson, of Murray, to move the seat of his county from Spring Place to Chatsworth precipitated a hot fight in the meeting of general judiciary committee No. 2, of the house, Friday afternoon.

The Spring Place people were represented before the committee by Eugene Black, the Atlanta lawyer. The Chatsworth people sent fifty delegates to present their side of the case.

Last year the voters of Murray county held an election to decide the removal of the county seat. Chatsworth won out by a vote of 862 to Spring Place's 155 and Eton's 427. Secretary of State Phil Cook has decided that Eton is not legally in the race, and it is now up to the legislature to remove the county seat.

The committee appointed a sub-committee of five to consider the case and report back to the main committee next week.

DRAMATIC SOLOIST TO SING AT SUNDAY CONCERT

Miss Lena Conkling, a well known concert soloist of New York, and sister of Mrs. J. Wade Conkling, of this city, will sing at the free concert Sunday afternoon at the auditorium-armory for Music Festival association.

Dr. Percy J. Starnes will preside at the organ and in the course of the concert will play one of his own compositions—a madrigal—written in old style.

CONLEY AGAIN QUIZZED BY PROSECUTOR DORSEY

Solicitor and Hooper Grill Negro at Police Headquarters for Three Hours

For two hours and a half Solicitor Dorsey did practically all of the questioning, Frank A. Hooper, quizzed Conley at police headquarters Friday afternoon. Two detectives stood guard on the outside of the door of the police commissioner's room in which the questioning was done, but no one except the officials and the negro were inside the room.

Conley was grinning when he emerged from the room. The questioning ended shortly before 7 o'clock, and Solicitor Dorsey and Mr. Hooper left the station immediately. They would not discuss the quiz.

While the three were in the room Solicitor Dorsey made frequent references to various papers which he drew from a leather case that he had brought with him to headquarters. Solicitor Dorsey did practically all of the questioning, with an occasional suggestion from Mr. Hooper.

CITY COURT OF DOUGLAS ABOLISHED IN BILL

Through a typographical error, The Journal on Friday afternoon published, among the bills passed by the legislature, that of Mr. Stewart, of Coffee—"To create the city court of Douglas."

The report should have read: By Mr. Stewart, of Coffee—"A bill abolishing the city court of Douglas." The Journal takes this opportunity to correct the error.

Macon Bar Meets

MACON, Ga., July 12.—The Macon bar association held a meeting this morning in the superior court-room for the purpose of further discussing the bill which abolishes the justices courts and established a municipal court in their place. The bill was discussed last Saturday when more than thirty Macon lawyers were present.

MAKES FORTUNE ON 25 CENT INVESTMENT

Almost every family has some member who suffers with indigestion and it will interest them to know that a young English singer who had spent a fortune consulting the best doctors in Europe, bought a vegetable which was recommended by a celebrated French doctor as having wonderful digestive properties, for 25 cents and made up a sauce with it and discovered that he had accidently prepared a most delicious sauce which added zest and flavor to food, and at the same time acted as a wonderful digestive. Cooks at the best European hotels pronounce it unexcelled. Unlike all other sauces, Waw-Waw (an obsolete South American Indian word for vegetable). A 25 cent bottle from your grocer will convince you how much more you will enjoy your food by adding Waw-Waw Sauce and how easily you can digest anything and everything.

ATLANTIAN KILLS SELF IN ST. LOUIS HOTEL

C. L. Meyers, of Southern Bell Telephone Co., Despondent From Ill Health

Press dispatches received in Atlanta Saturday morning told of the death of C. L. Meyers, of Atlanta, in the Planters hotel in St. Louis, Mo., under circumstances said to indicate conclusively his suicide. He was located after a twelve-hour search, seated in a chair in a room at that hotel, with a bullet hole in his right temple and a revolver with one chamber empty on the floor beneath the chair.

Mr. Meyers was regarded as one of the most efficient men in the telephone service. Formerly for a number of years he made his home in Nashville. When the Cumberland company was taken over by the Southern Bell and headquarters were re-established in Atlanta, some months ago, Mr. Meyers was transferred to Atlanta, but the condition of his health was so bad that he was given a vacation. Telephone officials say that Mr. Meyers was special agent in general commercial headquarters.

Mr. Meyers arrived in St. Louis last Thursday morning with his wife, a bride of three months. They were to visit his brother in that city. They registered at a hotel immediately after their arrival, and Mr. Meyers went out into the city, saying he was going for a walk. He did not return, and his wife called upon his brother to begin the search. Physicians asserted that he had been dead sixteen hours when the body was found.

It was said at the Planters hotel that he had registered there at noon Thursday. He was found Friday afternoon. Currency aggregating $993 was found in his pocket. No note or letter was found by the police which would explain his act. His wife ascribed it to his ill health, saying that he had been sick for three years.

MELANCHOLY WOMEN

Should Profit by Mrs. Hurley's Experience—Her Own Story Here Told.

Eldon, Mo.—"I was troubled with displacement, organic inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased once a month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world.

"After I had tried most every female remedy first, without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it?

MULHALL, "LOBBYIST," FACES PROBE COMMITTEE

Secretary of Wool Manufacturers Submits Statement on Finances

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Martin Mulhall, who claims to have been the active lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers for many years, began his testimony last night before the senate lobby investigating committee. Mulhall, whose alleged correspondence has brought into the limelight names of scores of men prominent in political life in the last ten years, was on the stand about two hours.

The committee made only a faint impression on the huge pile of letters, but enough was read into the record to show Mulhall's alleged relations with Marshall Cushing, former secretary of the Manufacturers' association. These relations, the testimony showed, began in 1903, and that Mulhall was first employed to work against an eight-hour bill favored by the late Senator McComas, of Maryland.

Mulhall admitted frankly that he had worked to defeat the McComas forces in Maryland, while he was still posing as the senator's friend. He said he received many checks from Cushing for small amounts which were to be used in paying the expenses of a labor organization in Baltimore which was opposed to McComas.

Mulhall told also of efforts to help settle the anthracite coal strike in the Pennsylvania fields in 1902, and spoke of attempts to arrange conferences between the then Governor Stone and labor leaders.

Just after the committee adjourned a sergeant-at-arms of the house appeared and served a subpena on Mulhall, directing him to appear before the special lobby committee of the house at 9 o'clock this morning.

Under subpoenas to appear at the same hour before two separate congressional committees in session at distant ends of the capitol, Mulhall today faced a puzzling situation. The tangle was the result of a clash of authority between the senate and house investigators.

The senate body insisted that it had prior rights in the examination of Mulhall who began his testimony last night. As the senate subpoena antedated that issued by the house committee and the witness was in the custody of a senate deputy sergeant-at-arms, the upper house was in a position to enforce its ultimatum.

When the senate committee met it was provided with a mass of correspondence and documents dealing with the alleged "lobby" which Mulhall charges was maintained by the manufacturers' organization.

CALLED UNDER GUARD.

Both committees met at 9 o'clock, but Mulhall and J. H. McMichael appeared at the senate committee room and were placed under guard of an assistant sergeant-at-arms. The house committee, minus its expected witnesses, went into an executive session to plan further action. The senate committee, fearful of further attempts by the house to get hold of Mulhall or his voluminous "lobbying" correspondence, had a short executive session and issued iron-clad instructions to the officers of the senate that any effort on the part of house to take the witnesses must be resisted.

While the senate committee retired for its executive conference three employes from the sergeant-at-arms' office, three senate clerks and a page boy kept guard over the original and duplicate papers on the committee table and watched the witnesses to prevent the serving of any public subpoenas upon them.

Senator Reed called a ten-year-old page boy.

"Here, boy, keep watch of these papers, and if anybody tries to get them, shoot him!"

MULHALL ON STAND.

Mulhall finally resumed the stand and took up the identification of his letters, which he began at last night's session. Before he could begin, however, James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, made a formal request upon the committee for the right of the association to be represented by an attorney. Robert McCarter, former attorney general of New Jersey, was presented as the attorney.

Chairman Overman said the committee would decide later whether McCarter should have the general privileges of an attorney for the association.

Mulhall identified more letters showing his relations with Marshall Cushing, secretary of the association of manufacturers.

He testified he had an understanding with Cushing that he was to receive $100 a week and $40 a week for expenses, for "general clerk work and lobby work in Washington." His arrangement with Cushing began in the summer of 1904 and he understood it to be permanent, although he had nothing in writing to bind the association.

Mulhall testified further of how he worked in the defeat of Senator McComas, of Maryland, although he posed as the senator's friend. He said he had received 500 letters from Cushing directed against McComas.

A letter to Senator Foraker, September 19, 1904, referred to a suggestion that Mulhall go to Rhode Island to help Senator Aldrich in his campaign. He testified he went later at the request of Aldrich. "He asked me to get into touch with labor men there to get their support."

Letters from C. E. Alden, then secretary to Foraker, and Arthur B. Shelton, secretary to Aldrich, showed that Mulhall's suggestion to go to Rhode Island had been the subject of some correspondence. Alden and Shelton knew he was employed by the association and he had not tried to conceal the source of his employment, even from the labor leaders, he testified.

NO "DOUBLE GAME."

Mulhall resented any implication that he had tried to play "a double game" on the labor men, such as he frankly testified he played on McComas.

Chairman Overman, of the senate committee, sent a formal notice to Chairman Garrett, of the house committee, at 10:30 o'clock that the senate committee would insist in keeping Mulhall as a witness until it had finished with him.

Chairman Overman assured the house committee that the senate investigators would release Mulhall later, subject to a house subpoena and make available to the house committee's order "any and all papers which may come into our possession in connection with this matter."

Mulhall identified a letter from James J. Ridge, outlining work done by Ridge among Rhode Island labor unions in 1904 in behalf of Aldrich's candidacy.

Mulhall testified giving Ridge $600 which he got from Cushing, secretary for the manufacturers, to help Aldrich in his campaign for re-election. In a letter relating to Ridge it was said "the senator is well pleased with the work of your friend."

Winthrop L. Marvin, secretary of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, put in a sky synopsis of a statement showing the financial operations of the association.

He was questioned about a special $20,000 fund raised several years ago. He said he had no record of how that fund was collected or disbursed. He believed E. F. Green, of Boston, who helped raise it, could tell how it had been spent. No record had been kept, but he was certain the money had been spent in printing and traveling expenses. William Whitman, former president of the association, was the next witness.

EXPLAINS $5,000 GIFT.

Mr. Whitman explained the $5,000 gift made to S. N. D. North, secretary of the association in 1897, and a clerk to majority members of the senate finance committee. The gift was made after the Dingley bill passed congress.

Many prominent wool manufacturers and others not connected with the association contributed to the fund.

Speaker Clark made a statement relating to the use of his name by David Lamar and Edward Lauterbach. He testified he had never had anything to do with Lamar, Lauterbach or any of the men mentioned by them.

J. Pierpont Morgan, he said, he saw at a gridiron club in Washington several years ago when former President Roosevelt and former Senator Foraker engaged in a joking spat.

"It was the hottest debate ever heard in this country," said the speaker.

Speaker Clark made this statement: "Ledyard says that Lauterbach told him that he was in communication with me through Senator Stone. Lauterbach, who acknowledged on the witness stand that he had lied, said that Lamar gave him the information. Lamar confessed the whole thing was a lie to force Morgan & Co. to take Lauterbach into their employ.

"All of them disclaim any acquaintance or communication with me.

"Senator Stone justly and properly characterized the Lamar-Lauterbach tale as a lie, in which he was entirely correct. He and I never in our lives conversed about or in any way mentioned to each other Morgan & Co., or the steel trust investigation.

"I never spoke to John Pierpont Morgan or any member of his firm in my life; never communicated with him or them in any manner whatsoever, never authorized anybody else to do so. I was, to my best knowledge and belief never introduced, even casually to him or any of them. To my best knowledge and belief I never saw any of them except Mr. Morgan himself and that was across the large hotel dining room at a gridiron club.

"I was several years ago introduced to Lauterbach here in Washington in the presence of several gentlemen and passed the usual salutations with him. That was all. I never saw him before or since and never communicated with him in any manner.

"I had never heard of Lamar and knew only by seeing his name in the papers that there is such a man as Louis Cass Ledyard. It seems to me that when Mr. Ledyard found out that Senator Stone's name and mine were being bandied about by Lamar, the pseudo Palmer and Lauterbach ought to have let me know."

The speaker was not sworn and the committee did not ask him any questions.

The first witnesses examined today were George F. Baker, chairman of the First National bank, and J. Cram, a lawyer prominent in Tammany circles. Both were mentioned in testimony before the lobby committee in connection with the activities of Lamar and Edward Lauterbach relative to the investigation of the United States Steel corporation by the judiciary committee.

Whitman was questioned about the $5,000 gift of North, an incident which attracted nation-wide attention when it was disclosed several years ago. He put in a letter to North delivered at Boston, September 27, 1897, signed by himself, George Sykes, Benjamin Phipps, James Phillips, Jr., and Rufus Greely, to set out that a meeting of a few members of the national association, "unanimous expression" developed in favor of presenting to North "some substantial testimony in recognition of your past services to the association and the woolen industry of the country."

It then went on to say that a draft for $5,000 was inclosed, and concluded: "This is a voluntary and cheerful expression of appreciation of your valuable work and of the high regard in which you are held." The signatures followed.

While Whitman was testifying the committee recessed to 2:30 o'clock to permit senators to be present at the introduction of the tariff bill.

FIRST COMPLETE JURY OF WOMEN IN CRIMINAL CASE ACQUITS WOMAN ACCUSED OF ATTEMPTING BLACKMAIL

Eleven members of the jury of women: Standing (from left to right)—Miss Anita Drobatz, Mrs. Emma McLoughlin, Mrs. B. F. Wilhot, Mrs. A. L. Bradley, Mrs. Lillie Rothschild and Mrs. John Kernann. Seated (from left to right)—Mrs. Charles Bauer, Mrs. J. G. Levy, Mrs. Martin Regensberger, Mrs. Roy Williams and Mrs. Christian Kleinhammer. Mrs. Isador Jacobs, the twelfth juror, was not present when the photograph was taken.

This is the first complete woman jury to try the case of a woman accused of felony. The defendant was acquitted. But it is stated that a jury made up of men could have found no other course.

Mrs. Williams, of San Francisco, was accused of sending to Mrs. Robinson a letter in which a demand for $150 was made. When Mrs. Williams was brought to trial she demanded a jury of women, which was her right under the California law. She pleaded on the witness stand that she had sent the letter as a joke and didn't mean to collect any money.

Judge Dunn's court room was crowded when it was learned the jury of women had agreed on a verdict.

Eleven of the women in the box were married and had a mature look. The twelfth was slender and much younger than her associates. All were smartly dressed.

MANUFACTURERS' LOBBY IS CHARGED BY MULHALL

House and Senate Committees "Scrap" Over Star Witness, Senate Wins

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—With Martin M. Mulhall, one time chief lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers as the prize, the senate and house lobby investigators confined their contest today for first testimony from the star witness. The senate won.

Surrounded by guards to ward off subpena servers from the house, Mulhall continued his story before the senate committee, reciting details of the fight he alleges the manufacturers financed to beat Representatives Hughes of New Jersey, now a senator; to re-elect Nelson W. Aldrich as senator from Rhode Island, and re-elected former Representative Littlefield, of Maine.

Mulhall talked of "inside" work and "outside" work; of a bookkeeper at the American Federation of Labor, whom he charged with later becoming a paid spy for the manufacturers, and of ocrsell Downing, private secretary of former Senator McComas, of Maryland, who he alleged was taking pay from the manufacturers' association when it was trying to beat McComas because of his activity in the eight-hour bill.

Mulhall's testimony may last several weeks.

BOOKKEEPER QUOTED.

In a report February 5, 1910, to Cushing upon political developments in Baltimore Mulhall quoted George B. Squiers, a bookkeeper for the American Federation of Labor, on the support of the labor forces were giving McComas and the fight they were making for anti-injunction and eight-hour legislation.

"Was Squiers acting in good faith, or was he a spy in the union headquarters employed by the National Association of Manufacturers?" asked Senator Cummins.

"Not at that time, but later on he was acting as a spy for Cushing to the American Federation of Labor," replied Mulhall.

The campaign in support of Representative Charles B. Littlefield in Maine was taken up in other letters.

ADVISED TO STAY OUT.

A Cushing letter to Mulhall, June 9, 1905, said:

"I guess it is better for you to stay out of the Central Labor union."

"A number of labor union workers were engaged in the fight for election in the union," explained Mulhall, "and I was taking an active part in seeing that we got officers elected who were on our side politically.

"This work was all done from the 'outside,'" he added.

The Cushiong letter added, "You want to manage it somehow so that while none (former Republican colleagues of the part of Baltimore), may think you are warming up to him, it will be the fact in-reality that he is wrming up to you."

The association got after Representative Wachter, of Louisiana, and said: "Wachter was not up to the mark in Washington. He dodged too many votes on labor bills," said Mulhall. The inquiry shifted to Albany. The introduction of a bill in the New York legislature by Senator Page, which would have placed the burden of proof upon the defendant in cases of injury for negligence.

"Cushing sent me to oppose the bill is something that ought not to pass at that time," said Mulhall.

Senator Cummins asked who Mulhall saw in Albany when he worked against the bill.

"You didn't have to see many people in Albany at that time to stop a bill if that kind. I saw Boss Barnes."

"Through him you defeated the bill?"

"I believe I did. I knew him for many years."

"You told him you were working for the National Association of Manufacturers?"

"Yes, sir."

When Senator Reed came to letters about a house in Philadelphia Mulhall thought Attorneys McCarter and Emery were whispering about his testimony and "over the shoulders" of senators.

"I see agents sitting behind you," he said, "interested in strikes and I would like to be cross examined about these letters. This is a fight to the finish and all I want it to be is a square fight. It is no laughing matter. This fight has been on for years."

The strike Mulhall referred to occurred in 1906. He swore Secretary Cushing had instructed him to go to Philadelphia and take a part in trying to break it.

Jackson H. Ralston, an attorney for the American Federation of Labor said the federation would produce all books and information in its possession bearing on the inquiry.

U.S. Suspect Says He Was Robbed in Jail

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., July 12.—A clash between federal and county officers is imminent because of the alleged treatment of Edward Knox, a negro committed to the Floyd county jail this week by United States Commissioner Printup. The negro was attacked by other inmates of the jail, he says, and robbed of $2.

It has been the custom of the commissioner here to remand United States prisoners to the Floyd county jail pending trial in federal court. Commissioner Printup asserts that the federal prisoners are discriminated against by the officers and frequently abused by other prisoners. The commissioner declares that he will report the matter to Judge William T. Newman.

The local jailer declares that all the prisoners are given the same treatment, and that they are made to observe the best order possible, but that during the warm weather they are allowed to leave their cells and congregate in a common jail hall. As a result of this mixing, fights occur.

to several points that no one else could.

The hearing then developed into whether or not Lee should be placed under bond as a material witness or whether he should be held in jail as a witness.

COULDN'T MAKE BOND.

The negro said that he couldn't make bond, and an order remanding him back to the custody of Sheriff Mangum was issued by Judge W. D. Ellis, who was presiding.

Color Schemes for Hats

(Chicago Tribune.)

Paris—A stir has been caused among bibliophiles by the discovery in a long forgotten book of the Academy of Sciences' reports that Chevreul, the greatest organic chemist of France in the nineteenth century, made a special study of color schemes for women's hats in connection with their complexions.

Chevreul's observations on the subject are found to be particularly timely at present, when women's headgear under the influence of the spring sun, is putting forth all the hues of the rainbow. Following are some of them:

The black hat, with white, pink, or red feathers or flowers, suits fair women admirably. Although it can be worn by brunettes, the effect is not so good. For these orange or yellow trimmings should be added.

The white hat only goes with the white or pink complexion, while the dark woman who ventures to wear a blue hat must trim it in orange or yellow.

If a pink hat be worn, it should be separated from the skin by the hair or, by white, or, even better, by green trimmings. A brown skin does not go well with a violet hat, unless separated, not only by the hair, but also by yellow trimmings.

MOULTRIE, Ga., July 12.—Pavo's brass band was tricked Friday when the train arrived from Moultrie without an expected bride and groom. The band, which had been apprised by grapevine dispatch, that one of its members was returning home with a bride, was lined up at the depot and playing hallelujah music when the groom suspect stepped from the train unaccompanied by the bride, and declared "there's nothing to it."

The joke was on the band for a time, but the marriage was no joke—it was pulled off later in Moultrie shortly before the departure of the train. The principals were C. Tex M. Irwin, editor of the Pavo Progress, and Miss Dempsey Alderman, pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Alderman, of Pavo.

Miss Alderman had been visiting up the state, and on her return was met here by arrangement and the marriage occurred quietly at the Presbyterian manse, Dr. J. W. Tyler performing the ceremony in the presence of a few friends. They had planned to return to Pavo in the afternoon, and the news was telephoned to Pavo and the band got in action. Just before train time the bride "lost her nerve" and decided to remain over in Moultrie with friends, while the groom was to go down and test out the temper of her parents. A truce was easily arranged and the groom returned to Moultrie.

FLOGGING VICTIM CAN'T PAY FOR TEN WARRANTS

J. H. Miller Halted by Justice of Peace in His Plans for Revenge

QUITMAN, Ga., July 12.—Warrants sworn out by J. H. Miller for ten of his neighbors on the charge of assault and battery have not been served because Miller has not paid the $15 charges for issuing them. Justice of the Peace Cook refuses to let him have them until they are paid for.

The warrants were sworn out Monday by Miller, this being the first time he has been in town since he was whipped, one night a few days previous. It was said that Miller mistreated his sick wife and ordered her sister out of the house, and he was charged for this.

One warrant was for his sister-in-law, Mrs. M. Phillips, and another for her husband. The Millers have several children.

NEGRO CONVICTED ONLY ONE WEEK AFTER CRIME

Burglar Found Under Bed of Slayer's Wife Given Ten-Year Sentence

TIFTON, Ga., July 12.—Henry Harris, a negro found under the bed of Mrs. I. B. Hall, wife of the man who has been sentenced to hang in Tift county jail on Friday, August 22, has been sentenced to serve ten years.

Haris plead guilty to burglary and was sentenced in less than one week after the crime was committed.

Henry Wilson, another negro, tried in Tift county court was found guilty of assault and fined $50 or four months. He entered a plea, but made a mistake by allowing the opportunity to speak before a crowd get the best of him. He told the judge that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing.

Judge W. E. Thomas said he considered a negro with a pistol and full of bad liquor more dangerous than a rattlesnake.

BUTTS COUNTY FARMERS THRONG TO INSTITUTE

Professors of State Agricultural College Greeted by Big Crowds in Jackson

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

JACKSON, Ga., July 12.—What is declared to have been one of the most successful farmers' institutes in the history of Butts county was held here Friday under the auspices of the State College of Agriculture, County School Superintendent C. S. Maddox was elected chairman of the meeting.

Dr. William Burson, professor of veterinary science in the State Agricultural college, made a very interesting talk on "What Good Live Stock Means to the Farmers." Prof. T. H. McHatton, of the department of horticulture, talked on the girls' canning clubs and "Co-operation." S. M. Cown, district agent of the Boys' Corn clubs, had for his subject, the "Results of Farm Demonstration Work."

At the noon hour the crowd gathered at the Farmers' union warehouse, where lunch was enjoyed. The occasion was in the nature of a meeting for the farmers and their families.

REALTY MEN HELD FOR RENTING DOUBTFUL HOUSES

Solicitor Ross Promises Vigorous Prosecution in Macon Vice Cases

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., July 12.—As a result of the encounter between Jesse C. Harris, attorney for a number of women charged with operating lewd house, and Solicitor John P. Ross, the charges against more than thirty women will not be heard until next December. The solicitor declares that he will do everything possible to convict every woman who has been indicted.

He also declares that he will be more vigorous in the prosecution of the property owners in that section, who have also been indicted for renting houses to women for immoral purposes. More than two dozen prominent real estate dealers of Macon have been indicted.

Kissed the Queen's Palm

(The New York Times.)

ROME.—The incident that impressed Queen Margherita most during her recent visit to the Montessori school was connected with a little American child. Mrs. Sandor Landeata, (nee Whitney, of New York), who lives in Paris with her artist husband, came to Rome that her 4-year-old daughter might have Mme. Montessori's personal teaching.

The other day the little girl was chosen to receive the queen mother with her preceptress. When she took the queen's hand and made a curtesy she turned it gently over and kissed the palm. The queen, noticing the pretty action, kissed her.

Afterward at home the tot explained: "As I kiss the back of the hand of ordinary people, I thought I should kiss the palm of the queen's."

When this was related to Queen Margherita she was highly delighted and said that she had never heard anything so delicious in her life.

Vincent Astor Gives Outing for the Poor

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 12.—Vincent Astor today began to spend some of his millions in helping the women and children of the tenement districts to an outing. At his expense a steamboat took 5,000 of the poor for a sail to Bath Beach, under direction of the Children's Aid society, for a luncheon and frolic at the seashore. It is the first of a series of outings which Astor plans to extend throughout the summer.

BRIDE OF 54 YEARS HAD TO GET MOTHER'S CONSENT

(By Associated Press.)

NEENAH, Wis., July 12.—The new Wisconsin marriage law providing that at least one of the contracting parties to every marriage must have the consent of one of the parents caused an embarrassing situation for a time yesterday when Frederick Weiland, fifty-six years old, sought to mary Elizabeth Schathmann, fifty-four years old, a grandmother.

The local justice required that the new law be enforced. Mrs. Schathmann brought her mother. Mrs. Philipina Thebe, eighty-one years old, into court to consent to the marriage.

U.S. Suspect Says He Was Robbed in Jail

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., July 12.—A clash between federal and county officers is imminent because of the alleged treatment of Edward Knox, a negro committed to the Floyd county jail this week by United States Commissioner Printup. The negro was attacked by other inmates of the jail, he says, and robbed of $2.

It has been the custom of the commissioner here to remand United States prisoners to the Floyd county jail pending trial in federal court. Commissioner Printup asserts that the federal prisoners are discriminated against by the officers and frequently abused by other prisoners. The commissioner declares that he will report the matter to Judge William T. Newman.

The local jailer declares that all the prisoners are given the same treatment, and that they are made to observe the best order possible, but that during the warm weather they are allowed to leave their cells and congregate in a common jail hall. As a result of this mixing, fights occur.

REIDSVILLE PLANS FOR MODERN LIGHTING PLANT

Thirty Street Lamps to Be Installed in September at Cost of $6,000

REIDSVILLE, Ga., July 12.—The city council has contracted with a Savannah firm for the erection of an electric light plant to be installed not later than September 15.

The company i nturn has contracted with a local party to furnish the poles for the wires and work will begin immediately. The cost of this plant will be about $6,000.

There will be two kerosene engines, one thirty and one seventy-horsepower, which will operate the dynamoes to be installed, and to pump the water. There will be about thirty street lights at first and preparation for many more to be put in when needed.

The Chauffeur's Side of It

(New York Times.)

A chauffeur, who has been connected with motor cars since the beginning of the industry in this country, and has driven the cars of men whose names loom large in the blue book of New York, analyzed the situation from the viewpoint of the chauffeur the other day. He threw interesting lights into some of its dark corners.

"Suppose your father were a millionaire," he began, "and you were a youngster in college, or perhaps just going there, or just out. And suppose he says to you, 'Here Jack, or Reggie, or Vincent, here's a nice limousine for you,' or 'Here, Clifford, take this 120 racer it's yours. Have a good time.' Naturally you're pleased. You take it out. You don't know how to drive it, of course.

"Well, you drive along, and maybe you invite a young woman to take a ride. 'Want to drive it?' say you. And she gets hold of the wheel.

"Does she have to wear a badge to go walking up the street in that ninety? Do you have to have a test to send that hundred-horsepower along? Not much. But I have to pay $2 to wear that button"—he pointed to his sleeve—"before I can touch a wheel."

"And I ought to have to pay it, too," he continued. "But so ought you. It's not the paying I mean. It's what is back of it. Nobody ought to touch a car that canot prove he or she is physically fit to drive and knows how, and has a good character, whether it is owner or chauffeur, rich man or poor man. I say, let the laws be made fair. Let no man become a chauffeur until he can pass a proper test, and let no man drive a car unless he can pass one also."

Turning the Light on School book Prices.

The House committee on education has acted favorably on the McCrory resolution providing for a legislative inquiry into the cost of school books in Georgia and the advisability of a plan whereby the State itself might prepare and have published the texts required in its common schools. This is the just and reasonable way to determine an issue in which the public is vitally concerned.

The school book question is one that demands careful, deliberate investigation. It is asserted that the people of this State now pay from a hundred to two hundred per cent more for a series of text-books than do the people of Ontario, Canada. To what is this vast difference in prices due? It is a natural or an artificial difference? Is there any means, consistent with true educational standards and interests, by which the Georgia prices can be reduced? If so, then it is certainly the State's duty to give its people that advantage.

This is a particularly seasonable time for the discussion of such matters, for, the State's five-year contract for school books will soon terminate. Our schools should not be committed to another five-year contract until it is demonstrated that such prices as we have been paying, or are likely to pay, are as low as can reasonably be expected.

It may be that while from the standpoint of individual publishers these prices are just, the State itself could produce satisfactory text-books far more cheaply. It is noteworthy, in this connection, that some years ago when the code of Georgia was published by private enterprise, it sold for ten dollars, whereas when published by the State as now it sells for two dollars; and in like manner the cost of the Georgia reports has been reduced from six or seven to a dollar and a half a volume.

If similar results could be obtained through State publication of certain classes of public school books, it would evidently be the part of good, businesslike government to adopt such a plan. Whetner that can be done is, of course, is a question yet to be determined. The essential thing is that the Legislature proceed promptly to an investigation of all the phases of this important issue.

Turkey is probably contented in the role of innocent bystander.

Still you hear an occasional member of congress rap the president because he writes good English.

The distinction between Mr. Lamar and other Wall street wolves is that Mr. Lamar didn't wear lamb's clothing.

The Result of Conservation.

It appears from recent federal reports that forest fires which were so grave a menace a few years ago are rapidly decreasing. Only some thirty thousand acres of the national reserves have been burned over so far this season, and that is a trivial portion of the total area of the one hundred and sixty-three forests now under federal supervision.

This gratifying result is due largely no doubt to improved and extended safeguards against forest fires; and it is but one evidence of our awakened sense to the need of protecting and conserving natural resources. We hear much less of the conservation movement now than we did a few seasons gone by, not because that movement is less virile but simply because it is accomplishing its purpose in a a constructive manner. Like most other reforms, it bestirred a great deal of clamor and attracted a great deal of notice while it was breaking a path through popular indifference and prejudiced opposition. Once well under way, it moved quietly but forcefully forward.

The tasks of conservation are in no wise complete, nor will they ever be. Indeed, they have but fairly begun. The vital idea from which they spring, like all ideas that count in the betterment of the world, must be continually renewed, readjusted and applied to particular needs.

The principle on which thousands of acres of forest land are saved from selfish monopolies at one time and from destructive fires at another must be adapted to divers other situations. The prevention of fires in general by means of educating the public in rules of caution and safety is one of the great fields of conservation, as is also the protection of public health. The fact is we are just beginning to appreciate the true meaning of this term and the full scope of the cause behind it.

Wall street had its dullest day yesterday, but the rest of the country rocked on as usual.

President Wilson may see Washington win the pennant during his administration. The administration has done wonders.

The Progress of the Tariff Bill.

The tariff bill is now on the last stage of its progress toward enactment. A little more than two months ago it reached the Senate from the House where it had passed with an overwhelming majority. Since then it has been under a searching review, first by the Democratic members of the Senate finance committee, then by the Democratic caucus, and finally by the finance committee as a whole, whence it is now favorably reported by a strictly party vote. It is expected that the debate over the measure will begin next Wednesday and will continue for probably five weeks, in which event the bill will be disposed of about the middle or latter part of August.

That it will become a law, there is scarcely a shadow of doubt, for, with the exception of the two Senators from Louisina, it has the united and immovable support of the Senate Democrats. Their majority, to be sure, is very slender, but it will suffice to shield the bill from any weakening or destructive amendments and, at the telling moment, to press it to victory. The fact is the tariff fight is virtually over and won. The coming debate will be more interesting as a play of wits than for any determining influence it may exert. The Democrats, omitting the Louisianians, will vote solidly for their party pledge and their convictions; the Standpat Republicans will vote solidly for their old regime while the "progressives" or insurgents will probably follow limpingly in their wake.

The significant circumstance of the tariff bill, as reported from the finance committee, is that it retains unimpaired those essential features with which it was stamped in the House and upon which the administration has unswervingly insisted. It retains the very important provisions of free wool and of the immediate reduction with the ultimate removal of duties on sugar. It was around these two items that the real tariff battle was waged and there, if anywhere, a less able leadership or a less loyal Democracy would have failed. The fact that wool still stands on the free list in the bill as reported from the committee and that no concession has been made in the case of sugar is distinctive evidence of the President's strength and also of the unity and fitness of the Democratic Congress. Party leaders who will stand together in such circumstances as these have been may be depended upon to carry out the remainder of their program for liberal and constructive legislation.

The tariff bill is markedly different now from the measure that originally came from the House but they are differences of detail, not of principle or purpose. Such amendments as have been made by the committee and by the caucus are designed to strengthen and perfect. That is the case in certain administrative features of the bill and in the changes offered in the income tax provisions. It is noteworthy that the tarff duties are as a whole considerably lower than those adopted by the House. Cattle and wheat, for instance, have been taken from the dutiable list and placed on the free list and other articles in common demand have been ordered free. The controlling purpose has been to tax luxuries most heavily and necesities most lightly and to make all duties as low as they consistently can be in keeping with the needs of the government's income and the welfare of the country's business.

It is a significant fact that as this tariff bill enters upon its final stage and when its enactment becomes simply a question of weeks, we hear scarcely an echo of the gloomy prophecies which in other years were invariably made whenever downward tariff revision was proposed. The old fears and prejudices and misrepresentations have lost their spell. The country looks forward to the new tariff as a means of larger economic justice to the rank and file of the people and of a larger measure of prosperity and freedom for business enterprise.

Alas, that so few of us are satisfied with what other people seem to think is good for us!

The man who would reach success hasn't much time to sit under shade trees by the wayside.

The fact that Atlanta is pushing so close to the pennant should cause us to forget a good many worries.

The secretary of war couldn't of course overlook Atlanta on his tour, what with our crematory and other wars.

THE PHILIPPINES

XXXI—ARGUMENTS AGAINST INDEPENDENCE

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

This article is intended to outline the position taken by those who oppose granting independence to the Philippines in the near future:

Fully nine-tenths of the Americans and Europeans who have personal knowledge of the Philippine problem are against independence for the islands at an early date. These include many leading American citizens who have visited the islands, such as Edward Filene, the noted Boston philanthropist and economist, William C. Redfield, secretary of commerce, in President Wilson's cabinet. With barely an exception, all who have handled the problem face to face, either as government officials or clergymen and merchants, consider the present agitation for Philippine independence, or even autonomy, absolutely harmful to the best interests of the Filipino people.

• • •

Among these are William H. Taft, first civil governor of the islands; Luke E. Wright, a Tennessee gold Democrat, second governor-general of the islands, former ambassador to Japan and ex-secretary of war; General James F. Smith, a California Democrat, former governor-general and now an associate justice of the United States court of customs appeals; prominent churchmen of such divergent theological views as Archbishop J. J. Harty, head of the Roman Catholic church in the Philippines; Bishop Charles H. Brent, leader of the Episcopal flock in the islands, and Bishop William F. Oldham, formerly superintendent of Methodism in the Philippines and the Federated Malay States, and now general secretary of the foreign mission board of the Methodist Episcopal church. All of these men have repeatdly given it as their solemn judgment, in official reports, state documents, books, addresses and interviews, that the time for entrusting the Filipinos with their own affairs has not yet come. With them are a few of the solid and influential Filipinos and nearly all of the Americans, Spaniards, Britishers, Germans, Frenchmen and Swiss who have investments there.

• • •

It is admitted by these authorities that the Filipino people are orderly and peaceful, and have respect for their officials. It is also admitted that they have the qualities of brightness, adaptability and patriotism so essential to a people who would govern themselves, but they deny emphatically the claim of Messrs. Quezen and associates that the short twelve or thirteen years tutelage in good government and popular education has given them sufficient experience to war*rant the early withdrawal of America's* benevolent restraint and the substitution thereof of unrestrained native rule. They point out that the great principle at stake is the welfare of the mass of the Filipino people rather than the insistent demands of a hundred or more Filipino politicians for increased power and more jobs, and that neither these politicians nor even a respectable minority of all the 8,000,000 peoples of the Philippines, Christians as well as Moros, naggas, head hunters and the diminutive negroid aborigines, have been able to date to learn more than the rudiments of popular self government through which democracy and order could or would prevail.

• • •

These men agree with those who want independence that the American administration of the islands, and its attendant uplift in governmental purity, economics and education, is serving to unify the Filipino people, but they do not agree with their claim that unification has already been established. Many opponents of early Philippine independence have made the assertion that the Filipino tribes would fight among themselves if the United States were to withdraw. The officials and other prominent persons mentioned herein do not go that far. A condition of passive but certain dissolution would set in, rather than violent anarchy. In their opinion, the dead weight of the people's inertia, their biological susceptibility to dream sweetly today over that which could possibly be done tomorrow, or next week, or in the mysterious future, would crush the delicate and still friendless flower of democracy which America has planted among them.

• • •

This, they think, would undo America's difficult labors should she be forced to go before her work is finished. The various tribes would simply drift amiably along without regard to each other. The same would be true of the villages, the cities and the provinces. Each would be sufficient unto itself, content as before to learn casually and with mild indifference of the doings of the others. There would be little interchange of thought and practically no cooperation. Roads and bridges would fall into decay. The mails, the telegraph, the telephone and other means of communication would work perfectly here, be out of order there, and wholly unused elsewhere. The same rust would eat into courts, the schools and the counting houses. These men also believe that there would be disorder, even though the majority of the Filipinos are peaceful. They would expect organized bands to spring up and rob, loot and rape, just as they did in Cavite and Batangas provinces near Manila and on the islands of Samar and Leyte until they were finally supressed by the present Philippine government after several years of guerilla warfare. Thus violence of a few would complete the havoc begun by the inanition of the many.

• • •

Mr. Taft and those quoted herewith stand committed to ultimate independence. As often as they have opposed independence now or in the near future they have voiced their unflagging adherence to the McKinley dictum that the Filipino people must be schooled in self government in order that they might in due time have a republic of their own. It was also President McKinley's wish that this should be done as soon as possible. They show by official records that his orders have been, and are now, obeyed with such fidelity that at the present time nearly two-thirds of the governmental posts, including many of the higher ones, are held by Filipinos, so that the Filipinos today enjoy greater autonomy than do the American citizens of Alaska. But they maintain that the "due time" in which absolute control can be entrusted to the eager Filipino office seekers is unfortunately for America at least, still to come. They favor independence when the Filipinos are ready for it, and not before. They do not feel qualified to even set a future date for that auspicious event, and they do not believe that the Filipinos in their present undeveloped state or any American political party, Republican, Democratic, Progressive or Socialist, is wise in attempting to do so.

• • •

Thus the opponents of early independence are in direct conflict with the Jones bill, the measure now before congress which provides for the immediate installation of a provisional republic, with qualified independence, this to be succeeded in eight years by a full fledged Philippine republic to be controlled absolutely by Filipinos from within and to be guarded by a world-wide plan, neutralization from without, the United States to retain only sufficient land for army and navy operations. *It is presumed that this pro*viso is intended to enable the United States to rush to the defense of the Filipinos in case of attack from some European or Asiatic power. But would she? Even if willing, why should she? If the Filipinos feel able to manage their own affairs let them expect no aid from America or any other power, say the critics of the Jones bill. They also contend that eight years is entirely too short a period in which to prepare the islanders for independence. They hold that two short decades of Americanism, modified to suit the peculiar situation there, cannot turn Malays into good and enlightened republican citizens. How much longer it will take they don't know, but they are sure that the time is not ripe for the experiment.

Those who have not yet voted for Debs may be interested to read Johndee's annual advice, given on the occasion of his birthday. "Waste of energy is one of the wanton extravagances of the time," he said yesterday. "Maintain a wholesome interest in others—it develops sympathy," added the world's greatest humorist.

We toil over and polish our poor little wheezes and then along comes Johndee or A. Carnegie with some spontaneous bit of comedy that shows us up for the bush-league motleyist we are.

The Supreme Court of the United States doesn't manitain that wholesome interest. Just think of what that cold, unsympathetic body said about Johndee's oil concern:

That the facts established that the assailed combination took its birth in a purpose to unlawfully acquire wealth by oppressing the public and destroying the just rights of others, and that its entire career exemplifies an inexorable carrying out of such wrongful intents. . . . and is strewn with the wrecks resulting from crushing out, without regard to law, the individual rights of others.

THE DIARY OF OUR OWN SAMUEL PEPYS.

July 7.—Up early, and Jenny did cook my breakfast and very well, too, and thence to my office where were many letters to gladden me and I did labour all the morning with cheer and content and thence to play tennis with Will Beebe, both of us lackadaisical and without force. Thence with him in his oil-waggon to the train to meet my wife and we did pass her riding in a cab, which we bade stop, but which cost me 2s. natheless. For the conductor and the time table, my wife said, told her the train would arrive at 5.49, but came full 10 min. before that, and I do think the railroad company should pay me my 2s. G. Plank to dinner, which Clara Simmons prepared, and in the evening came Mistress Irene Pemberton from Emporia, a fair girl and brightly unurban, and then I did go to my room to work, and so to-bed.

8.—To my dentist's and he told me of how he met Mr. Edward S. Ellis the tayle-writer this day and I remember how he was my favourite author when I was a lad and how when I did have the measles my mother did read me "Through Forest and Fire," and she did like it, too, despite herself. And never have I loved any hero as I did Deerfoot the Shawnee Indian, nor ever can, neither. To the court and played 4 setts with Will Beebe and lost 3, but played the best I have this year, maugre that. To Will's for dinner and he rode me home and at work all the evening upon my journall and accounts and I find I owe less than ever I have before.

To shoot the Bull, compilers
Of history, did—I entreat—
He take a box of Schuylers?

And I, when to the hills I go,
Next Thursday, seven-ten train,
Shall I take any of these? No!
Without them I shall entrain.

Chattanooga, Tenn. MERTYL RENNER.

That Lamar cannot be prosecuted for impersonating congressmen over the telephone is no news to us. We consulted our attorney on that point long ago. And he inofrmed us that there is nothing in the statutes to prevent a man telephoning anyhing, as fringst "I've got a great paragraph for you."

Most of the telephoned wheezes are bad, and we generally have to come up from the composing room to answer the call, too. Why telephoning contribs are less successful than the writing kind we can't guess.

"Don't they ever," asks the copyreader we were discussing this matter with, "telephone a good lastline?"

Practically never.

THE LOBBY

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

The Lobby is an institution produced by the operation of capital, the real governor of men upon elected officials, the apparent governors of men. It is inevitable. There is no way to avoid it so long as our system of business and our system of politics remain as they are. If you destroy one lobby another will spring up and take its place. It is a natural, logical growth.

To understand, we must perceive that we have two kinds of government.

One is composed of legislative and executive officials, such as presidents, kings and policemen. This is the traditional, inherited idea. We cling to it, for men are slow to rid themselves of the certia of the past. The sole business of this kind of government, its pure ideal, is to punish criminals and to collect revenues to pay itself for so doing.

Unfortunately the modern world, especially America, has moved away, in actuality, from this ideal.

The ruler of former time preserved order, punished lawbreakers and managed war.

We are realizing that these things are of minor importance. If we get juster economic conditions we need pay but little attention to keeping the peace. men will be peaceful of themselves. It is better and easier to prevent crime by universal education than to punish. And war is getting more and more out of the civilized mind.

The activities of men today are exercised mainly in accumulating capital.

It is this capital which really "governs" men; for it directs where they shall work, how much they shall be paid, and altogether controls the physical conditions of the family. That is real governing.

While our apparent government, the political, is democratic, elected by the people, our real government, capital, is monarchic and irresponsible. The people did not elect Mr. Morgan nor Mr. Rockefeller. These men got their authority by personal force.

The experience of mankind has proved that no man is fit to be intrusted with absolute power. That is too heady a liquor for mortals. It inevitably becomes heedless of human rights.

The one instinct of capital is to get more capital. It wants things done. Its motto is efficiency. It cares little about the means used.

Human nature remains the same, and where absolute power wants things brought to pass there are always plenty of shrewd, conscienceless gentry to do its will. In former ages there were the bravos, the soldiers, the courtiers and the spies, who sustained the authority of the king.

Nowadays it is the Lobby.

The Lobby is composed of the diplomats, agents, fighting men and serving men of the real feudal government of today—capital.

We have but one great problem before us; it is to make capital democratic, to make it subject to the will of the people as we have made political governors subject.

The solution of this problem is being forced upon us. It is striving in the minds of the President, the Senate and the House of Representatives. It is working in the councils of the states and of the cities.

The American people are great enough and self-restrained enough to find the solution, not by violence but in wisdom and peace.

One Regular Job

There was a man in our town—
A lazy sort of chap.
He got a job one summer day
And thought he'd found a snap.
He lingered and he loitered.
He loafed and chattered—then
He found he had to go about
To hunt a job again.

There was a man in our town—
He found a place once more;
He took his stand with other men
A-clerking in a store.
He shirked and dodged and soldiered
All in the boss' ken,
And so he shortly went his way
To hunt a job again.

There was a man in our town—
You'll find him there today;
No matter where the town may be,
He's settled down to stay.
This chap when you've discovered
You've found one of how then
Whose steady job is just to go
To hunt a job again!

Out of the Mouths of Babes

"Mamma," queried little Lola, "what becomes of all the *yesterdays? Does God make them over into to*morrows?"

• • •

"And do you love your teacher?" asked a caller of a six-year-old Boston youth.

"Yes, in a purely platonic way."

• • •

"Now, Henry," said the Sunday school teacher, "can you tell me what special act of favor God showed to Lot?"

"Yes, ma'am," replied little Henry Peck. "He turned his wife into a pillar of salt."

• • •

Small Johnny—"Say, papa, how much am I worth?"

Papa—"You are worth a million dollars to me, my son."

Small Johnny—"Well, would you mind advancing me a quarter on account?"

Quips and Quiddities

"Let me see some of your black kid gloves," said a lady to a shop assistant.

"These are not the latest style, are they?" she asked when the gloves were produced.

"Yes, madam," replied the shopman; "we have had them in stock only two days."

"I didn't think they were, because the fashion paper says black kids have tan stitches and vice versa. I see thetan stitches, but not the vice versa."

The shopman explained that vice versa was French for seven buttons so she bought three pairs.

J. Pierpont Morgan was always a silent man and he would sometimes champion the silent with a story. "Old John Bates, an upholsterer," so the story began, "was renowned for his silence. People who had been his customers for a generation had many of them, never heard a word from him except 'Good morning. Five dollars. Thank you. Good day.' Old John, in fact, cultivated silence as a genius cultivates his art.

"A patron one day said to John:

"'What's the best kind of mattress?'

"'Hair,' was the reply.

"The patron, some twenty years later, had occasion to buy another mattress, and again he asked:

"'What the best kind, John?'

"'Cotton.'

"'Cotton?' the patron cried. 'Why, you told me twenty years ago that hair was the best.'

"The old man gave a quaint sigh.

"'Talking has always been my ruin,' he said."

SUNDAY SONGS AND SERMONS

GIRL SUCCESSFUL AS EVANGELIST ALTHOUGH ONLY 18 YEARS OLD

This young girl is just eighteen. But she is a wonderful evangelist!

What would you think if you went to church some Sunday morning and saw a slip of a girl go up into the pulpit instead of the minister who usually preaches there?

Well, that is what this eighteen-year-old girl does, and great throngs of people go to hear her.

Her name is Helen Coulthard, and she is a native of Bolton, England.

Just lately this wonderful girl preacher has been speaking to crowds of people in the south of London.

She doesn't come from a rich family where she could have had all sorts of opportunities to become familiar with books. She wasn't taught how to speak in public by a private teacher.

But everyone says she is wonderful, and everyone is interested in this young girl who soon will make a long tour of the big cities as an evangelist.

HELEN COULTHARD.

THE REGULATOR

A Little Sermon TO MAKE US WATCHFUL.

By Rev. Loy Warwick

"FOLLOW ME"—(JESUS.)

'Tis with our judgments as our watches, none go just alike, yet each believes his own.

In the jeweler's window yonder, or in the telegraph office, is the "regulator." We all set our watches by it. They do not run alike. Ask the first six men you meet what o'clock it is, and see how their watches vary. Some will insist that their record is right. "Their time-piece never varies." You like to think that you are right. You take a certain pride in your watch and hate to admit that it ever loses time. Go to the regulator and perhaps they are all wrong. Some are too fast, others too slow.

But the official clock sets us all right.

At school the boys and girls must go and come by the teacher's time-piece. Juries, witnesses, bailiffs and lawyers go by the judge's watch.

I lived in a town once where they had too many times. The trains ran by eastern time; the postoffice used central; one factory had a time all its own, and so did another mill in the place.

There was no final authority as to the time of day, except in spots.

CHURCH AS REGULATOR.

If you get to church on time you must go by the church clock. In moral and religious things the church is to be the regulator, the teacher, "the pattern shown in the mount."

What is the church? The church is of God. It will be preserved to the end of time. God is in the midst of her. Christ is the life and light of the church. The light and life must come to the world through consecrated human lives. Christ did not many mighty works in Nazareth because of the unbelief of the people. There was no one there through whom He could mightily manifest Himself.

If the church in your community does a great work; if it has great light and power, it will be because of the good life you and your fellow churchmen live. People set their watches by our daily life. If my clock is wrong I am to blame if my guest misses his train. The infidel teacher is responsible for the infidelity of his pupils. The godless father will have to answer for the godlessness of his boys. The worldly mother is to be censured for the worldliness of her daughters. The faithless shepherd must answer for the faithlessness of his flock. You are not a father, or mother, or pastor, or teacher. But you are a hero to somebody, a light and a leader to somebody. Somebody looks upon you as a regulator, as a "pattern shown in the mount."

The sinner's guilt would not be so great if his sins only hurt his life. But no man liveth unto himself. We are either building up or tearing down as the days go by. Which is it? Some men contract to build houses. Others are in the business of tearing them down. Some of our fellowmen live to bless and build up society. Others prey upon their fellowmen. They exploit their weaknesses and temptations.

CHRIST THE PATTERN.

Jesus Christ is the regulator, the pattern, the example for all who would build stately mansions for their souls.

He came to show us the Father. Looking at Him we know what God is like. He came to redeem us from our sins. He died for our sins according to the Scriptures. Through His life we have life. He came to show us how to live. To be a Christian is to be like Christ. There is nothing higher or better for men than living the Christ life day by day. And there is nothing greater in the way of service that we can perform for our fellow-travelers. "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give I thee." Peter and John could not build colleges or libraries in Jerusalem, but they could show Jesus to men. The lame man at the beautiful gate of the temple asked merely for a pittance of gold or silver. The disciples were able to help him to find that which gold cannot buy. They led him to Christ, whose power healed him, and whose spirit put a new regulating principle into his life. Old things had passed away and all things had become new. If you are walking by the rule of Jesus Christ you cannot go astray. Peace, happiness and success are in this way. It is the safe way and the way that leads from death.

The happiest folks on earth, and the best, are found in this way. The Lord can do great things for you and with you when you turn your life over to Him.

CONGREGATION CHECKS BABIES

Miss Marie Thaber taking care of Baby Benton, and Harry Sparks at the Central Baptist church checking department in Los Angeles.

Check your baby while you pray.

This is what the congregation of the Central Baptist church, of Los Angeles, Cal., does every Sunday morning.

Rev. J. W. Kramer, pastor of the church, discovered that many mothers were obliged to stay at home Sunday morning to care for babies, and therefore missed church. To correct this he decided to establish a nursery where babies might be checked during church service.

The pretty girls of two Sunday school classes, about thirty-five in all, take turns managing the checking room and the babies.

"I find it works splendidly," declared Dr. Kramer. "Many mothers avail themselves of this, and it accomplishes a three-fold purpose; it increases church attendance; it eliminates the crying baby in church, and it affords opportunity for big sister work among the young women of the pastorate."

Golden Text—Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth. Matt. v:5.

(1.) Verses 11-12—About how old was Moses and what kind of a life had he lived up to this time?

(2.) Seeing Moses had been raised in the court of Pharaoh how did he come to have such a patriotic spirit for his own race?

(3.) On what principle would you approve or condemn Moses for slaying this Egyptian?

(4.) Would a man ever be justified in slaying another man today, and if so, under what circumstances.

(5.) Why would you say it is foolish, immoral and unnecessary, as well as illegal, for any person to carry concealed weapons today?

(6.) Verses 13-14—Did Moses show the proper tact and the necessary patience in trying to settle this dispute between two of his brethren? Why?

(7.) Under the circumstances can you wonder at the Israelites whom Moses rebuked resented his interference? Why?

(8.) Moses appears to have thought that his slaying of the Egyptian was not known. Now would you say or not and why, that there are some things that it is right for us to do and also hide from our fellowmen?

(9.) In what sense did Moses fear? (See Heb. xi:27.)

(10.) Verse 15—The cause of Moses fleeing from Pharaoh to Midian is, from the circumstances, of human origin, but would you say or not, and why, that God sent him there to prepare him for his future work?

(11.) Verses 16-20—Can you give a description of the question of circumstances of this priest or prince of Midian?

(12.) What is the significance of the fact that every man should be an actual priest in his own household?

(13.) What does it show when a man who has been raised a prince willingly helps draw water and attends to the flock of these young women?

(14.) Why should all young men, no matter the degree of their culture or wealth, be trained so they can work when necessary?

(15.) What lessons may we learn from the hearty hospitality of this priest or prince of Midian?

(16.) Verses 21-22—For what occupation did Moses hire himself to Reuel?

(17.) Did Moses do well to take a wife and would you say or not, and why, that it is the duty of every normal man to marry?

(18.) Verses 23-25—How do we know that God hears and answers the cry of all who are in trouble?

(19.) What was God's covenant with Abraham?

(20.) Acts vii:17-29—When and how did Moses learn that God meant him to deliver his people from Egypt?

(21.) How did Moses' forty years as a shepherd fit him for his great work to deliver Israel from Egypt?

(22.) Heb. xi:23-27—By whose faith was Moses hidden three months as a babe?

(23.) What is the evidence that Moses was a man of God before he left Egypt?

(24.) Why do men of God need discipline or training for their work the same as other men?

Mobile Whitewashes Crackers---Can't Get Lead During Series

Crackers Not Out of Race; To Come Back

Team Has Played Decidedly Poor Ball Last Two Days, but This Was Owing to High Tension Players Were On

The unexpected poor showing of the Atlanta club in the series with the Mobile team has served to put a damper on local fandom. After the run of eight straight wins, two of which were over the Mobile crew, the backers of Billy Smith's outfit gained added confidence and at once began to make ready for another pennant and when the slump came many quit cold, and have decided that the club hasn't a chance to win the flag.

It has never been predicted that the Atlanta team would handily win the Southern league flag, yet there are hundreds and hundreds of fans who are sure the club is just as good as any in the league and will be right around the top throughout the race. Two losses to Mobile has not changed their opinion in the least, and any bit of knocking as was shown at Friday's game is not right and will do not one bit of good.

The team has surely played poor ball in the last two games, but that is nothing out of the ordinary. Every good ball club has its off days when the class of ball turned up would not do credit to a bush league outfit. The players get keyed up to such a tension that they make unexcusable errors when really they are working harder than at any time in their career.

When the series with Mobile was opened the Crackers stood a chance to take the lead in the pennant race. This and the fact that eight games in a row had been taken served to get them on their toes and the result has been some very poor fielding. In the two games with Mobile ten errors have been made. This is way below the fielding standard of the Cracker club, and is only explained by the fact that all the players are a bit too anxious to win.

While two games won or lost right at this time have a big bearing on the race, there are other games yet to come, and if the Crackers will only pull themselves together and again get going at their proper stride there is no cause for worry. Atlanta undeniably has a good ball club, and one that is going to be in the race right to the last. By winning eight in a row the club showed it is capable of playing jump-up ball, and with the temporary slump a thing of the past, first or second place will not be so far away.

Right now the Atlanta team is in third place just a little ahead of Chattanooga. Montgomery in second place has two games on the locals and Mobile is three and one-half games ahead. These leads are not unpassable, and the race is far from being over.

Conzelman To Work Saturday

Barring rain the Atlanta team will play the last game of the series with Mobile this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

Conzelman, who has been, 'ving his arm a good rest, will probably be on the mound for the Crackers, and Campbell will do the hurling for the visitors.

The Mobile lads have taken two straights from Atlanta this time, duplicating the Crackers' performance in Gull Town, and as the league leaders only journey to this burg once more this season, it is up to the Crackers to prevent a clean sweep of this series.

CRAVATH IS "COME BACK"

NEW YORK, July 12.—Guess who's boss hitter in the National league?

Give up? Well, he's one Mr. Cravath, of Philadelphia, who is smashing the ball at the rate of 604 per cent. The Phillies' right fielder has been a regular kill joy to pitchers this season, and his terrific batting has been instrumental in placing his club at the head of the league.

Cravath's showing this year is all the more remarkable when his varied career in the big leagues is considered. He landed in Philadelphia last year after escaping a trip to the minors and his heavy clouting ever since has made him a great favorite with the Quakers.

Cravath's most striking feat last season was the making of two home runs against the Dodgers in one game. This season he adjusted his batting orbits early and this is what he has done: Played 48 games, made 157 trips to the plate, scored 32 runs and made 71 hits.

Cravath has few equals in the National as a long-distance slugger. Five homers, 7 two-baggers and 10 doubles tell the story of his fence-breaking activities this year.

BUNTS AND BINGLES
BY JULIAN MURPHEY

After learning that Wilding remarked before his match with McLoughlin that he expected to be "pipped by Mac's service" we no longer wonder at the result. For Mac heard him say it and a study of the word pipped" leaves absolutely no time for the best of tennis.

GETS TROUBLESOME STARS.

Jimmy Callahan has a knack of managing ball players no other leader can control. Often the players who can hit hardest and field best are a bit hard to control and for this reason never turn out their best class of work. With Callahan the managing of such men is a specialty and with a few more "trouble makers" on his club and the rounding to form of Ed Walsh he would be right in the hunt with one Cornelius McGillicuddy.

Harry Lord and Hal Chase are two of the "trouble makers" Callahan picked up and you only have to peep at their work to notice that they have been reformed and are now playing the grandest ball of their career. If he could only pick up Heinie Zimmerman, Roger Bresnahan and a few others commonly refered to as "uncontrollable" he would have a real ball club.

At that Cal has a mighty good club. The failure of Walsh to work every other day has greatly hampered his success. To date the W. H. has been able to work only 74 full innings and at this time last season he had turned out something like 150 rounds and during the year worked in 393 innings.

Every time Pitcher Boehling, of the Washington club, turns out a victory Managers Kid Elberfeld and Billy Smith, both of whom had a chance to land this young star, must have his nerves badly shattered. To date Bohling has won but eight in a row and in the big show. Suppose he was with the Crackers or Lookouts?

DOBBS AS MAJOR LEADER.

They are now figuring on Johnny Dobbs as manager of the St. Louis Browns. Rumor has it that George Stovall is about through and that Dobbs will be given a chance to lead the American league club in 1914. And they could hunt much longer and fail to find a leader who would get as good results as this same Montgomery pilot.

Johnny Dobbs is a natural leader. At Montgomery he is given absolutely no support when it comes to getting real good ball players, and yet the Dobbers are always right up in the race fighting for a high position. And it is all because Johnny knows how to lead men and get the very best work from them.

Major league scouts are right now doing the hardest hunting. They are all over the bush organizations and keen eyes will pick out many a youngster who later in life will be a Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson or Nap Lajoie. The B. L. stars of today are major league idols of tomorrow and the scouts who picks the best in after life can always point with pride the scouts who pick the best in after life can always point with pride

It seems funny that a boy who can sleep on the ridgepole of a red barn raises four kinds of hades when his curve takes him to the big league and he draws an upper.

STARS OF ONE DAY

Steve Yerkes: Was at bat four times and got one hit.

Derrill Pratt: Was up four times and got one hit.

Jack Johnston: Duplicated Pratt's performance.

Doc Johnston, of Cleveland, is credited with one hit out of four trials.

Joe Jackson: Scored two runs and got one hit in three trials.

Zack Wheat: Was up five times and got one hit.

Red Smith: Hit safely twice out of four attempts.

The averages of Cobb and Jackson are drawing close together, and it looks as if the Georgia lad will be at his accustomed place in the lead of all batters before long. Their averages, including Friday's games, are:

Jackson	77	272	59	108	.397
Cobb	56	183	33	72	.394

Aeroplanes Are Safe

NEW YORK, July 12.—Christopher J. Lake, one of the inventors of the even keel submarine boat used in the United States navy, has reported to the Aero Club of America that he and his son, Simon Lake, have evolved a type of aeroplane with "inherent stability." He declared that he had tested the new flyer at an altitude of sixty feet and found that when it was brought in an inverted position it easily recovered its balance and made a safe and easy descent.

The machine has such great longitudinal stability that the weight of a man moving about the plane would upset the machine only to a small degree, he said. "I believe the day will come when men can walk about with absolute safety while flying in aeroplanes."

Johnson in London

LONDON, July 12.—Jack Johnson, negro fighter, who announced after he arrived in Paris from Montreal that he would not go back to America, arrived here today. He said he came to see some friends.

Hitting Weak; Game Is Lost

Bradley Hogg Puzzle to Crackers—Brady Hit Hard in One Round

With Bradley Hogg pitching jam up ball and the Cracker bunch playing far below their form Mobile won a shutout battle Friday by a 6-0 score. It was the second time this season the Crackers had lost by a shutout score, Beck, of Nashville, being the other hurler to wield the brush.

So far as the Crackers were concerned the game was sa near repetition of Thursday's game when the battle was booted away. This time there was plenty of hitting by Mobile, yet errors at critical moments paved the way for more than one tally.

King Brady blew sky high in the fourth round and was chased off. An error helped matters some, but this bobble only served to end the agony in this round instead of postponing it for another spasm. The Cubs had made six hits and five runs off Brady when Denton was called in.

Bradley Hogg pitched superb ball all the way through. He gave up just three hits and two of the outs go to Chapman. Alperman made the other. In the third inning Hogg was at his best and retired three batters on five pitched balls.

Bisland contributed the stellar fielding performance of the game when in the second inning he raced back of third and captured Schmidt's line drive. He had his back to the plate and caught the ball backhanded.

Shortstop Stock was the fielding sensation for the Gulls though Billy Campbell pulled down more than one hard drive, while Stock twice robbed Bisland of hits by his sensational and unexpected stabs of grass cutters.

Wallace Smith's work on Schmidt's slow grounder just back of the pitcher was big league stuff. The ball was a slow roller and it took fast work to catch him at first.

Britton Loses Race

BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 12.—Ralph B. Britton, of the Gananoque Canoe and Motorboat club, lost the first international sailing race for the canoe challenge trophy over the six-mile Gravesend bay course.

Britton was not only beaten by Lee Friede, defender of the cup, but also was disqualified for fouling a mark. The Canadian challenger was in his "cheese box" canoe with its flat underbody. Friede, representing the New York Canoe club, sailed a round bottom canoe. His elapsed time was 1:36:46, while Britton's was 1:38:40.

CLYDE MILAN TELLS OF VARIED HUNTING TRIPS

The ball player is a good hunter by instinct and inclination. He is a good hunter first because he likes it and, second, because he needs to be. Baseball is a strenuous game, and the player needs his vacation as well as anybody else. As he is an athlete as well as a laboring man, for I consider baseball as very real labor, he needs an athletic kind of a vacation, and hunting is the golf of the ball player.

It would be hard for me to say whether I prize my base-stealer record above the pleasure I have received from my various hunting excursions or not. I never think of comparing baseball with hunting as a sport, for I do not consider baseball as a sport at all. It is work, and hard work at that, in the strongest kind of competition with the best men in the business. I doubt if any man in any kind of business has laid awake nights studying a situation and trying to figure out how he could improve himself any more than I have laid awake nights studying out how I could best take advantage of my opposing pitcher and catcher when I was trying to build up a good base stealing record. And it is just as hard in batting or fielding or pitching or anything else a player may be called upon to do. I know, much as I am wrapped up in baseball and much as I like the game, I am glad when the closing days of the season are at hand, for it is then that I can take my gun and my dogs and get out in the fresh air and be alone.

Tennessee is a state that still offers a great deal to the hunter. It will be a long time before its rugged hills and heavy timber will be settled, and there is still abundance of game. My home town is at Linden, and while I have never had the opportunity to strike into those parts of the state which offer the most in the shape of game I have found good hunting close at hand.

A good many hunters like big game shooting or think they would like it, but I have never had such ideas myself. I am well content with the smaller game, and had rather handle a shotgun any day than a rifle. Quail is, on the whole, my favorite game, and there is no lack of birds in the vicinity of Linden. The law in Tennessee places a limit on the number any one hunter may bag in a season, and I believe this is a good idea. There are so many amateur hunters nowadays that it is hard to see where they all get a chance to shoot anything. Still, it is a big country, and there is plenty of game left. I have never approached the game limit in a day for I have always been satisfied with a few birds enough for my own use and the pleasure of bringing back something to show from my marksmanship. I believe I had rather hunt quail than anything else, but there is an excitement about bagging wild turkeys that is well worth the effort. There are still a considerable number of these birds loose in the woods of Tennessee, and it has been my good fortune to knock down a few in my numerous excursions into the wilderness. In my experiences I have found a Remington pump gun the most serviceable weapon, and would use no other. I have never been a crack shot, but I did make one shot once perhaps by accident that shows that I had at least a good gun whether I am a good marksman or not. I refer to the time when I killed five ducks on the wing at one shot. It was the best shot I ever made.

In my excursions into the woods I am always accompanied by my two setters, Dan and Joe. They are among the best friends I have, and we have had many fine tramps about the woods together.

Of the time I have spent hunting I have taken place in the vicinity of Linden. I have made several trips to Texas, making the town of Clarkesville my headquarters.

CHANGES FOR JUST A DAY

Again Mobile won from Atlanta, increasing her lead to 3 1-2 games, while the Montgomery-Chattanooga game was rained out.

The Giants indulged in another pitcher slaughter on Thursday, while two Philly pitchers were unable to stop the rush of the Pirates. The Giants now have a ninety-nine-point lead.

The Athletics continue to win, and the Nats still keep their lead over the rest of the clubs for second place.

Four Defeats For Phillies And Brooklyn

Losses to Giants During Past Two Weeks Has Taken Pep Out of Tribes Headed by C. Dooin and B. Dahlen

When a team hits the toboggan the stopping is hard.

This fact has been most clearly demonstrated by the Philadelphia and Brooklyn National league clubs, each having dropped four in a row to teams that in the past have proven easy picking. The Phillies were trimmed four times in a row by the Pittsburg Pirates, while it took only the Cincinnati Reds to win over the Dodgers.

Before the Phillies and Dodgers were struck a severe blow by the fast-striking New York Giants they were traveling at a record-breaking clip, but now it is different. The losses to the Giants appear to have taken all the stinger from the two outfits and it takes only a second division outfit to take four in a row.

Before the Giants crawled on the Dodgers and Phillies and made them stepping stones to first place three teams were playing jam up ball. The Phillies held to first place with Brooklyn a close second. Now it is second place for the Phillies with Brooklyn leading the second division.

Winning the fourteen straight games has given the Giants all kind of confidence, and McGraw is out to make a runaway race for the flag. In three short weeks the team has climbed from fourth place to first and is now topping the second place occupants by 7 1-2 games. The Cubs are just 3 1-2 games back of the Phillies and traveling fast, playing better ball than the Phils outfit. Pittsburg is also picking up and is now in the first division.

Big Purse Winners At Cleveland Meet

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 12.—The largest money winner of the opening Grand Circuit which closed yesterday was Tommy Murphy, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who received $3,834 as his share of the purses. Walter R. Cox, of Dover, N. H., was second, with $4,248.50, and "Pop" Geers, Memphis, Tenn., third, with $2,885.

As winner of the Ohio stake, Marigold took $2,600, the most money won by a trotter, while Lou Dillon Boy was the big winner among the pacers, with $1,700 to his credit.

Armstrong and McElhiney won the men's doubles, defeated Heern and John Schaef, of Cincinnati, 7-5; 7-5; 4-6, 6-3.

Reidsville Is Loser

REIDSVILLE, Ga., July 12.—The local boys were again defeated by Glennville here Thursday afternoon. On account of rain, the game was not called until 5 o'clock, therefore it was impossible to play but eight innings. The game was won by Glennville by the a score of 6 to 2. Batteries for Glennville were Hutchinson and Liptzy; for Reidsville, Sharpe and Smith.

Brady Is Winner

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, July 12.—Jimmy Brady had a big advantage over "Kid" Barrick, of Boston, in a twelve-round bout here last night. Brady has fought nine times here in the last year, beating all his opponents, and is claiming the featherweight and lightweight championship of Canada.

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

SONG OF THE AMERICAN IVORY HUNTER.

I've trailed their spoors from Portland, Maine,
To Nashville, Tennessee;
I've beat the bush from old Fort Wayne
Across to Kankakee;
Let T. R. haunt the Congo sweep
And Rainey seek the Nile,
But the tusk's I'll get from the Michigan league
Will have their's skinned a mile.

Two hundred black men dance and cheer
As the old so-far-i swings;
They've got their camels and their dogs
And ninety other things;
I trail alone from tank to tank
Wherever a game is played,
But the tusks I'll get from the Cotton States
Are over the Congo Grade.

I've never seen a veldt or kopje—
Not even from a train;
I've yet to lamp an elephant
Upon his native plain;
No swarthy bearer of a gun
Stands ready to my call,
And yet I gather in the bone
Which makes the billiard ball.

I've trailed their spoors from Old Kaintuck
To Brookton by the sea;
I've hunted them alone and bunched,
And trapped them with a fee;
Let, T. R. haunt Somaliland
But the ivory from Old Vermont
And Rainey trek the Nile,
Has got theirs skinned a mile.

The two battles in the National and American leagues for second place are slipping into the realm of the hectic. Can you lamp the frenzied populace in the act of bursting a blood vessel as they view the scramble of the runners-up? Or it is runner-ups?

YES, WHY?

Why should C. Webb, of Cook county, care whether or not his people win a flag this season? It seems to us that he should be satisfied with the massive loving cup Chicago fans are planning to present him in the fall, regardless of the finish of his club. One who is held in such esteem by his fellow townsmen should not begrudge another the prospect of such a tawdry emblem as 80 feet of cheese cloth swung from a common pole.

If Wagner is really through and the German tennis team loses this week, the Teutonic laurel is up to the great Heinlezim alone. If Heinie slips German civilization meets a crushing blow, one from which it may never recover.

THE CHASE-CHANCE CONTROVERSY.

Hal Chase is batting .330 for the White Sox and fielding .991. On the other hand Chance has released Borton while R. Zeider was in the deadly throes of a bunion—weak-ending, so to speak, for about five weeks.

But this doesn't alter the fact that Hal was .231 for Chance and fielding in ratio. There may have been excellent reasons for this slump, but Chance had nothing to work upon save the actual stuff. It isn't how great, from the Chance viewpoint, he now is in Chicago—but he happened to be in New York.

KNIGHT AND STREET.

The return of Jack Knight to faster company recalls an old incident of 1912. Knight was traded for Gabby Street, and within a month both had blown and were pushed from the parade.

Now Knight comes back while the dope from Dixie indicates that Street is again catching wonderful ball and will be lifted at the season's end back among those who belong. The earnest athlete is a tough bloke to diagnose.

"The east is the east," as Mr. Kipling remarked, "and the west is the west—but never the twain shall meet." He must have been referring to a world series. It has been three years now since a western team figured in a W. S. and 1913 will probably bring no shift. The west ruled the post-season realm from 1906 through 1909—a matter of four years—but the tide has shifted.

Phillies and Dodgers at last have reached mid-season form—and, gosh, how they dread it.

SAYLOR GOING TO COAST TO WIN BOXING LAURELS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 12.—Determined to land his new protege, Milburn (Young) Saylor, at the top of the lightweight heap in quick order, Ray Bronson is planning an early invasion of the Pacific coast, where ring champions are made and unmade. Coast promoters are dickering with Bronson now for a bout on Labor day between Saylor and either Leach Cross, Harlem Tommy Murphy, Bud Anderson or Joe Rivers. Bronson declares that he is anxious to send Saylor against anyone of the four and that after that he will be on Willie Ritchie's trail.

"Fighting like a champion," was the unanimous verdict of fight fans here, following Saylor's last two bouts. These were both staged since Bronson took charge of the crack Hoosier lightweight and Saylor was returned a winner via the knockout route in each. Battling Kelley, a welterweight, was the first victim. Saylor stopped him in four rounds. Battling Terry, a well known Pittsburg welterweight, was the next, on the night of July 3. Saylor walloped Terry into submission in three rounds. After scoring two knockdowns in the second session. Saylor sent Terry into dreamland with one punch in the third.

Saylor, since entering Bronson's stable, has fought like a new man. Confidence is the explanation. Saylor places implicit faith in Bronson's judgment. When Ray is behind him in a fight, Saylor is as sure he is going to win as he is that he is in the ring. Against both Kelley and Terry he was a whirlwind. He was supremely confident that he was going to win by a knockout in each bout. In fact, so sure was he that he wanted to wager his end of the purse that way. And he stated that his confidence came from the fact that Bronson was handling him.

JOHNSON IS SUPERIOR TO THE GAME'S GREATEST

Clarke Griffith Confident That Star Will Be Winning Just as Regularly Fifteen Years From Now

Foxy Clark Griffith, whose memory runs back to the days of the giant Rusie and the wonderful Radbourn, declares that Walter Johnson is the greatest pitcher that ever lived.

Not only does the Washington manager declare that the big blond boxman is the greatest twirler that ever threw a ball, but the most remarkable as well.

The latter viewpoint regarding Johnson on the part of Griffith comes from the manager's implicit faith that Johnson will be pitching for fifteen years more in the game, and with as much "stuff," as it is termed, as he ever possessed.

Griffith recollects Old Hoss Radbourn in the days when the latter's everyday efforts would have put the modern "iron man" to shame.

Griffith states that for a day in and day out hurler nobody ever approached Charlie, but the game in those days required less from a pitcher than the pastime of the present. Radbourn, declares Griffith was a mighty man on the mound, but he was not to be compared with Johnson on the score of innate pitching power.

Matheweson, according to Griffith, is an artist. It was not alone the fact that Matty has stuff, but he exercises copious thought with his arm, and once he knows a batter's weakness, never varies from feeding that hitter the sort of balls he cannot hit.

But Johnson is even beyond Matty in the mind of Griff. Rusie, the former says, he has pitched against time and again, and Griffith corrects an impression regarding the husky Hoosier. It has always been supposed that speed was the greatest asset of Amos. Griff declares this not to be the fact.

Rusie's prime pitching possession, declares the old fox, was his curve. It was not a drop, but a sidearm curve that broke sideways and was under the absolute control of its master.

"Believe me," said the Washington leader, in a reminiscent vein, "I've seen them all come and go, but Johnson is the greatest of the lot. I don't say this merely because he happens to be a member of my club. I mean that from the bottom of my heart. Radbourn, Rusie, Matty, all of them, were wonders, but none of them was as good as Johnson. Walter has everything. You hear a lot of wiseacres talk about his speed, as if that were the only thing that he possessed. This is a mistake. He has a splendid curve ball, a change of pace, and I wouldn't be surprised a mite some day if he cultivated a spitter.

"And again, he uses his head constantly. There are none of them a bit wiser than Johnson, and none of them who takes better care of himself. He hasn't a single habit that would impair his ability or hurt his usefulness. He is big and strong, and I'm certain that he will be pitching just as good fifteen years from now.

"Is he better than Matty? you ask. I say yes. Matty's pitching was never pitching on strength. He constantly studies the batters to know their weakness and to learn their groove. Once he has a batter measured, then the batter is up against it.

"But for pitching, as pitching is regarded in baseball, Walter Johnson is the superior. Now take Rusie, for instance. People have a wrong impression of him. He wasn't so speedy as reports would have you believe. I know, because I was constantly called on to work against him. Captain Anson, for some reason or another, would always pick me to oppose Rusie, and I don't believe in three or four years I ever beat him.

"Rusie had a sidearm curve that did the business for him. He had it under absolute control, too, and could make that ball break where he wanted to break it. It was not a round house affair, either, but broke with a snap and a slash that carried it straight over. He would have three and nothing on a batter, and then would shoot over three straight strikes with his curve. He was master of that and proved it time and again.

"But to my mind Rusie wasn't to be compared with Johnson. In fact, when I come to think it all over, I never knew a pitcher—and I've followed baseball since I was a kid—that was in Johnson's class. And Walter will last, too—last fifteen years, pitching just as good ball. He may not be so speedy, but he will have something to replace speed and keep his record as a rattling good pitcher until he is ready to quit."

PITCHERS' TRAINING SCHOOL FOR MACK'S YOUNG HURLERS

Connie Is Preparing for the World's Series, Which He Believes He Will Enter

Realizing the gravity of his position, and the chances that are against the Athletics holding their present lead in the pennant race when the mid-summer point is reached, unless the two stars, Bender and Plank, are reinforced, Connie Mack is now putting all his time and the entire morning practice to the work of developing one or more young pitchers.

Ira Thomas, the noted catcher, will hardly catch another game this year, at least, he will not be a regular. He has been detailed to handle the young pitchers in the preparatory stunts, particularly Bush and Wyckoff. Connie has now at least five young pitchers whom he believes capable of delivering if they can be got into the proper working order. They are Hoff, Pennock, Bush, Wyckoff and Cottrell.

Harry Davis and Danny Murphy are the aids of Thomas in his development work. In addition to the four mentioned, Connie has a number of school and college pitchers working every morning, but he will not divulge the names of these men, and nobody has been found who will tell who they are. If they prove good enough, they will turn professional and be taken with the team for a further tryout.

The entire morning practice in the present home stand with the western clubs is being devoted to batting against the young pitchers. They are being given as much work as though they were taking their regular turn in the box at this stage. This means that the brunt of the actual work is falling on Plank and Bender, but it is expected that one or more young pitchers will be ripe by the time the team departs on the next trip.

Connie feels sure that the team will win the American league pennant, but he does not want to be caught short of pitchers for a world's series. Hence the school for pitchers every morning.

Bad Weather Hurting Race

CHICAGO, July 12.—Pilots of four flying boats were ready early today to advance another leg in the long cruise from Chicago to Detroit. The weather forecast indicated that unfavorable conditions might prevent a resumption of the race today. Roy M. Francis and Beckwith Haven were at Pentwater, Mich., 216 miles from Chicago.

Glenn L. Martin was at Lake Harbor, Mich., where he arrived late yesterday after a perilous trip of 162 miles from Chicago. Martin was forced to volplane 700 feet yesterday when the air valve of the carburetor of his engine dropped off. Martin fixed up a makeshift valve by using the chamois skin with which the gasoline is strained. The craft made the two miles to shore under its own power.

W. E. Johnson still is at Robertsdale, Ind., unfavorable weather having prevented him from continuing the race.

Trott vs. Ketchel

CHICAGO, July 12.—Sammy Trott, of Columbus, O., was matched today to fight Steve Ketchel in Winnipeg, Can., August 16. The fight is to be twelve rounds. The men are to weigh 133 pounds at 3 o'clock. An effort will be made to arrange a match between the winner and Ad Wolgast.

WEATHER IS A DRAWBACK

BOSTON, July 12.—The teams in the "two hot cities," as he calls them, have practically no chance to win pennants in the big leagues, said Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, here Tuesday. "A ball team in Washington or St. Louis will have to be 20 per cent stronger than any of its rivals to finish on top," he declared. "The heat and humidity rob the players of their vitality. I caught in Washington three seasons and know. St. Louis is nearly as bad. Even when the Athletics play a brief series in those towns they leave with less life than they entered with. A team that has to play in such weather half the time suffers more, of course. In Cincinnati it's a good deal the same."

Fell in Lake Then Escaped

MUSKEGON, Mich., July 12.—Glenn Martin's steady nerve and perfect control of his hydro-aeroplane, in which he is making the Chicago-to-Detroit cruise, probably saved his life late Friday afternoon, when the machine developed carburetor trouble and he was forced to make a quick descent into Lake Michigan.

Martin, with his passenger, Charles Day, was flying about 700 feet above the water when the air valve dropped from the carburetor. Martin volplaned to the surface of the lake, making a perfect landing about two and a half miles from the shore. In a few minutes he succeeded in starting his engine again and reached the shore under his own power.

Martin declared his machine was not damaged and that he will resume his journey toward Charlevoix.

Wahoo to Quit Georgia Teams

Charlie Wahoo, who was last spring signed up by Georgia to assist Cunningham in training the Red and Black Athletes, will probably not return next fall to coach the football team.

Mr. Wahoo has for the past few years been connected with A. G. Spalding & Sons' sporting goods agency at this point, and they have offered him a more tempting proposition than that at the university. He is considered too valuable a man for them to lose. As a result Wahoo probably will remain in Atlanta with Spalding next year, although the deal has not yet been completed.

It is rumored that Frank Anderson will replace him at the university. Anderson has been away from the university but one year, and during that year he built up a prep team at Riverside that ran away with all other prep teams and held its own in a trip among the Carolina colleges. Should Anderson return, the university coaching staff would be well balanced indeed.

Heads Whist League

CHICAGO, July 12.—C. L. Patten, of New York City, was elected president of the American Whist league at its business meeting here. Other officers elected include A. J. Mouatt, Chicago, vice president, and J. C. Beardsley, of Cleveland, recording secretary.

Not Harmful To Take Beer

Lookout Mogul Does Not Believe in Prohibition Clause in Contract

There is no anti-drinking rule in force on the Chattanooga club. The players are allowed to take their beer, and so long as they don't show evidences that they are taking too much no questions are asked.

The Kid believes that strict prohibition of all drinks rather leads to dissipation than prevents it, the players taking advantage of the manager's temporary absence to go off and "have a time." Whereas, when they are not forbidden the juice of the rye, they take a drink or so and go on.

"It's the big jags that hurt a player, not an occasional drink," said the Kid in discussing the problem of discipline last night. "When you forbid them absolutely from taking a drink they are going to do it on the sly, anyway. Perhaps they won't get a chance so often, and when they do get to it they take too much. I believe in putting it up to a fellow's good sense. Let them have their beer, as far as I am concerned."

Either the Kid's system has worked well on the Chattanooga club this season, or he has been lucky in having a good bunch to handle—perhaps both. At any rate, he has had very little trouble.

Bill Chappell was the only player on the club who showed a disinclination to follow the temperance rule, and Bill soon went.—Chattanooga Times.

COTTON MARKET STEADY; PRICES LITTLE CHANGED

Market in New York Closed Unchanged to 3 Pts. Up From the Previous Close

NEW YORK, July 12.—Cotton was very quiet this morning, many brokers having left town for over the week-end and after opening steady at an advance of 2 points on July and scattered covering, prices showed very little movement. Weather reviews of the new crop continue favorable generally favorable and indications pointed to good weather over Sunday but these features seemed to promote very little activity while cabled timistic trade advices from the west and the firm old crop situation were doubtless sustaining factors.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—Cotton futures opened quiet, 2 points down to 1 point up compared with yesterday's last prices. Around the first hours bought covers in a moderate way to even up over the week-end, but the most positive movement employed an advance of only 1 to 2 points. The market had a good tone, but little fresh buying came in. Weather conditions over the belt were described favorable and no change for the worse was indicated for Sunday. This caused selling heavy enough to put the market 1 point under yesterday's close by the end of the first half hour of business.

Shorts increased their covering operations after the middle of the morning and the most active months were 2 points over yesterday's close. Longs bought little. A feature of the morning was the sale of the second bale of the new crop. It was shipped direct to New Orleans from San Benito, Tex., was classed middling, inch and one-eighth staple, and brought 12c a pound. Late in the morning the market was firm at 3 points advance.

WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The cotton market has shown a decided tendency during the past week. Sentiment has doubtless been confused by political uncertainties at home, in the continent and hostilities in the Balkans and the fear of anti-futures legislation in the country while prices have been fairly conflicting and there somewhat less favorable character of trade reports have been offset by some extent by the strengthening of the old crop situation. Early in the week there appeared to be a tendency to scout the market on the failure of July condition reports to create any fresh interest in long side, and a feeling that the crop is improving but moderate declines were followed by covering on moderate buying, but selling on the part of west. Demand failed to become general on advances which set scattered selling from southern sources and toward the end of the week favorable private reports scored to relieve apprehension as to the immediate outlook for the crop. A favorable breaking of the Indian situation is considered a bearish factor and from a Lancashire trade standpoint, but recent advices from Europe claim that continental spinners are meeting very little response to offers for their goods, owing to unsettled conditions in finance and general trade circles and that while Trade interests have been moderate buyers on declines of demand from that source has not been active enough to create any general bullish sentiment. Advices from the southwest indicate that the hot weather has checked the spread of the boll weevil and at the same time harmful drought. Reports from Georgia and the first bale of new crop cotton this week and reports from South Carolina that picking is under Texas will be general by the end of the next week. Early picking operations, however, are said to be restricted generally, owing partly to reduction in stock and the talk around the ring has encouraged a more or less general tendency to await developments of a nearer view of the new crop movement.

WORLD'S VISIBLE SUPPLY STATEMENT.

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton made up from special cable and telegraphic advices completes the figures of this week with last week, last year and the year before, showing a decrease for the week just closed of 134,500 bales and an increase of 210,760 bales last year, and a decrease of 145,-000 bales year before last.

The total visible is 3,694,926 bales against 3,829,426 bales last week, 3,976,569 bales last year, and 2,987,214 bales year before last. Of this total 3,682,555 bales are American and 12,371 bales again 1,683,426 bales last week, 2,014,589 bales last year and 1,153,294 bales year before last, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 1,553,000 against 1,564,000 bales last week, 962,000 bales last year, and 974,000 year before last.

The world's total visible supply of cotton as above shows a decrease compared with last week of 134,500 bales, a decrease compared with last year of 118,357 bales and an increase compared with year before last of 1,007,-632 bales.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton as above there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 1,782,000 bales against 1,604,000 bales last year, and 1,208,000 bales year before last; in Egypt 101,000 bales against 787,000 bales last year, and 82,000 bales year before last; in India 800,000 bales against 588,000 bales last year, and 600,000 bales year before last; and in the United States 382,000 bales against 420,000 bales last year, and 267,000 year before last.

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Democrat says: When Senator Clark framed up his anti-future trading amendment and hitched it to the tariff bill as a rider, he probably did not foresee the bowl of protest that would arise from the cotton belt, which all along has been rolled on by the Democratic leaders and the tariff bill through the senate. While the casual observer does not understand or appreciate the contributary usefulness of a marketing system that opens the way for producer, merchant and consumer to shift the speculative risks incident to the natural and the state of trade from the commodity itself to the shoulders of a speculator, the informed producer, the merchant, the banker, the spinner and the men who are engaged in collateral trade, and the interests affected thereby do appreciate this usefulness. A flood of telegrams, letters and resolutions of protest now arrive in the Washington capital, but if these protests against the Clarke amendment come almost entirely from the cotton belt and the sweet music in the ears of the opponents of the tariff bill from the interior sounds in the ears of its friends and backers.

When the debate on the tariff bill opens its enemies doubtless will attack it from all possible angle. The friends appear to expect the fight of their lives. The banker will urge the measure from being changed. The up-economic and uneconomical Clarke future tax rider serves to bring the cotton belt unanimously to arms and supplies the enemies of the big bill with an additional weapon. The cotton belt will now show that the provision has no place on the tariff bill. This means the Democrats will have to fight still harder to get a bill in which is scientifically constructed. In any event the fight of the cotton belt against the banker will promote more unanimity in the Clarke rider.

McFadden was bidding for large blocks of new crop, July bought, at 12 cents. Cwathmey was buying August. Uptown crowd and others were said to be selling. May favorable and sentiment against market.

Cwathmey, McFadden and Cone leading buying. Sheltons and Gwathmey leading sellers, selling said to be for uptown and Wall street; new crop very scarce, spot interests seem to be buying summer months.

Cwathmey bid 38 for 5,000 December.

Galveston—Will get a new bale today from Paniorie same date as last year. New bale from Texas from Bennito consigned to John M. Parker & Co. will be sold at auction.

Government offices in Texas reports rainfall 24 hours, ending 8 a. m. today, from .01 to 2.50 inches, which is .18 greater than the June average.

New Orleans, La.: Government advises Corpus Christi, Tex.: Small craft warning. Disturbances over southern New Mexico moving eastward; will cause brisk to high northerly winds today over interior coast. This means rains in Texas over Sunday.

Times-Democrat's monthly crop report expected giving weevil danger the usual prominence.—Kofler.

Official Texas records show an average for the state of 96 days, three stations showing 100 degrees, the stations 102, 104 and 106 degrees, Abilene 106. Maximum average for Oklahoma, 102.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow, Jones summary:

Trainmen and conductors' committee of 1,000 meet today to ratify eastern railroad strike vote. Reports from country generally show favorable crop conditions. Trade reports show increased confidence, business circles is still manifest, owing chiefly to tariff legislation. Sweeping industrials declined .11. Twenty active rails declined .41.

Although the market continues dull with few changes in prices, there are many bullish factors in the situation that are being ignored, which later in the season will have a beneficial effect on values. Stocks are being conservatively accumulated around this level will lift to reasonable tone show satisfactory profits.—Porter.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Chicago Inter Ocean says:

Wheat bears have the best of it. Hedging business is coming into the market, making it safer for the short sellers and at a lower level within a year. Sentiment has become excessively bearish and it would not be surprising to a majority to see lower prices, although the best traders are looking for irregular declines. Corn specialists attributed the break of 2 cents in September yesterday making a drop of almost 4 cents from the recent high point, to unloading by longs. It is noticeable that sharp traders who were forced to unload their property bought on bids. Traders said they would not be surprised to see a rally some day, but believe corn should be sold on rallies. Oats declined 2 cents dropped below 40c yesterday with stop orders selling sufficient to carry prices to 39½. Those who have watched the market closely for two weeks say it has been a rather unhealthy thing by longs and a decrease in the outside buying. The liquidation, however, is not regarded as over.

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say:

Wheat has had sharp rallies in American and Canadian northwest; also precipitation in Nebraska, Kansas and parts of Missouri, scattered showers in central Illinois and Ohio valley. Local sentiment continues bearish and new specialties have been put out which does not come in.

Corn—The rains shown this morning are likely to cause further selling, although liquidation was on a large scale yesterday. Crop advices do not show much weakness as the futures owing to moderate receipts and scarcity of offerings from first hands.

Oats—There is nothing new in the situation except that receipts are somewhat sunnier and cash inquiry a shade better. Sentiment is very bearish and as in the other grains selling is being extremely limited.

Provisions—Receipts of hogs under estimates, in many places prices are said to be higher.

Think wheat, corn and oats all have had bear enough. Would expect shorts and weak for a rally before selling again.—Ryerott.

Wheat easier with favorable weather in spring wheat belt and on cables. Shorts covered on the decline. Corn weak with greater liquidation than. Rains over parts of the belt.

Oats weak, with some stop orders uncovered.

Cotton, the South's Staple Crop

The different kinds of cultivator manufacturers and the International Harvester Co. in particular have possibly done more to help the rich and poor farmer solve the labor problems and helped produce feed for the great millions than all other science, but it's worth is not appreciated half so much as it should be, with cotton labor mostly controls the production and harvesting. All southern states are blessed with cotton labor that knows nothing else. Notwithstanding, it is sorry and much abused, and is fast becoming scarce ad harder to manage every year, and the men who grow cotton will always be dependent on this labor, as I do not believe machinery will ever be invented that is successful enough to harvest or properly chop and work our cotton crop as 75 per cent of it is usually grown on such poor rough land covering such a wide range of territory, and its ripening season so long and varied that successful cotton pickers will be a long time being perfected.

The greatest thing that would help this would be to perfect a variety of cotton that would ripen mostly at one time, or a variety that would make in a cluster on a small stalk and be harvested the same as corn, oats, soy beans or any similar crop and a gin perfected that would gin or thresh and separate it the same as oats and peanuts are now handled.

If this could ever be accomplished, growing and harvesting of cotton in unlimited quantities could be accomplished, but what would become of the illiterate cropper or tenant and poor land owner if we should cease to grow cotton? Untold suffering would be the result and southern farms would be turned to wild lands, but such will never come, but if it were possible to brink a calamity not too great upon the south to force the sill cotton planters to know that this wonderful crop must no be absolutely depended upon and make the people grow other supplies even if only for their own use, ofr lands would soon become so enriched we would make twice the cotton on half the acres with less labor and the grower could be in position for the buyer to come and ask what you will take for your cotton instead of as it now is, what will you give me off my cotton?

The world knows that 75 per cent of the cotton has to be sold as soon as gathered. The world also knows that the cotton crop is pledged to Wall street before it is planted. They know it can be had at the price offered for it and therefore, the world will always keep a bondage on cotton growers and just allow them a scant living wage just so long as this state of affairs exists.

Seventy-five per cent of all cotton planters, big and little, are in this fix. They have to pay a higher rate of interest than any class of people on earth, have less luxuries, comforts and pleasures for their families than any class of people on the globe, and are tied faster in bondage than the world would suppose. Is there no solution to this? If so, what is it?

I will give my idea later on the credit system as practiced in all the south. It is the greatest curse we have and the world knows exactly how to handle us in this respect to keep us in bondage so long as we plant all cotton.

Yours, truly,

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

$1,500—R. P. Thompson to Mrs. S. P. Childs, lot south side Washington street, being part of lots 29 and 30 of Hathshepsut, the daughter of Pharaoh and foster mother of Moses, died when he was forty years of age. She was succeeded by her half brother, Thutmose, who sincerely hated her and, of course, all of her partisans. No doubt they all fled to escape what would have otherwise been certain death at a time when life was not valued very highly by tyrannical monarchs.

The feeling which existed between this remarkable queen and her half brother makes it probable that she did not want him to succeed her, that she desired Moses to take the reins of government at her death. She probably proposed to him to become co-regent with her, as she had been with her father for fourteen years before his death, so as to insure his succession to the throne. It was certainly well known throughout the court who Moses was, and to make legal his accession to the throne she undoubtedly proposed that he should be legally adopted as her own. There would then be no question as to his right of succession.

It is not improbable that this attitude on her part may have been the cause of Thutmose's hatred of her.

MOSES' CHOICE.

It was while Moses was grown that the proposition came to him. He had not grown up in ignorance of his people. There had been constant intercourse between him and them constantly, although he dwelt in the palace and was educated as the son of the queen. He was fully conversant with the burdens of his people, as also of their hopes and aims. His early training had not been obliterated by his scientific education or his luxurious surroundings. I believe it had been fostered and developed by his visits with his parents, Amram and Jochebed, and his brother and sister.

So when Hatshepsut made the proposal to him that he become her son legally which also involved most likely his adoption of her religion—and she was a very ardent worshipper) he declined the offer of the kingdom of Egypt and "went out unto his brethren," although he remained an inhabitant of the palace until her death. however long after this choice that may have been. "He refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter, choosing rather to share ill treatment with the people of God than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season, esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures of Egypt; for he looked unto the recompense of reward." It was a great temptation to him, as it would have been to you. It was by faith in the promises of God, that he was enabled to make the choice. Was it a wise choice? Was the reward worth the sacrifice entailed? To ask the question is to answer it.

Every young man and woman is brought face to face with the same problem at some time—the choice between the temporal and the eternal, between the things that are seen and those that are unseen; the choice must be made by men of affairs as well their time and efforts be given to increasing wealth, to providing luxury for their families, to obtaining the highest places in professional or business life, or to forego these perhaps in order to advance more the interests of the kingdom. Each one of the living must will determine the choice—faith in God and in His fulfillment of His promises. What is your choice? What was Moses'?

MOSES' CORRECTION.

Undoubtedly this faith which prompts this choice was the most important element in the character of Moses that determined his career. It was the foundation upon which God worked in preparing the superstructure of his life. With such a trust and confidence in Him, God could work to advantage. But there were certain things in Moses' life that needed correction before he was fitted to do the great work God had in mind for him. The events of the succeeding days and years were elements in that corrective preparation.

It was not long after the death of Hatshepsut, possibly just after the accession to the throne of Thutmose III, that Moses noticed, as he went about among the works of the king, one of the overseers most brutally beating an Hebrew slave. He had a terrible temper, and it was off in a flash. Seeing no one to help, he jumped on the Egyptian and slew him. I do not believe he intended to kill him; his heart bled for his brother in distress, and he wanted to deliver him; but his quick temper got the best of him, and before he knew it he had taken a life. He had to dispose of the body in some way, to escape the anger of the king, and so he did it. Thutsome III was antagonistic to him anyway, and it needed only the simplest excuse (and Moses' life is full of what anything of the kind) in summarily decapitating him. He hid the body in the sand.

Next day in trying to act as peacemaker between two of his brethren, he was misunderstood and got anything but thanks for his kindly offices. He learned to his horror that his bloody deed had been discovered, and knowing the temper of Thutmose III, his foster brother, he fled.

MOSES' ROUTE.

During the past decade there have been unearthed on one of the mountains of the region of the Sinai peninsular two very interesting places. One is the turquoise mines at Magarah, and the other an ancient temple at Sebarit just twelve miles away. To make a long and interesting story short, these mines were operated at the time Hatshepsut, forter-mother of Moses, and a part of the temple to the "goddess of the turquoise country" was built by her. There can be very little doubt but that Moses had visited both places with her, and was familiar with that part of the peninsular. Consequently when he fled from Thutmose he went where he knew he would find water, rather than the direct route to Palestine across desert. Near these mines he met a lot of Bedouin sheikhs with their flocks fighting for water, and keeping some girls from getting water for their flocks. His old temper arose and his sympathy for the oppressed. Making use of the skill he had learned in Egyptian military circles (there is good reason for believing that he had led as the commanding general in successful invasion against Ethiopia) he drove them away, and the girls had quenched the thirst of the suffering flocks. They reported the matter to their father, a priest who served as a worshiper of Jehovah (his name Renel means friend 'of God) who sent for Moses, and received into his house, eventually gave him one of the girls for his wife. To them were born two sons. For forty years he traveled about the peninsular with his flocks, and he had added to his skill as a general and his scientific knowledge learned in Egypt, a knowledge gained in Egypt of many circles (there is good reason for believing that he had led as the commanding general in successful invasion against Ethiopia) he knew them all away. (By Associated Press.)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 12. A masked man who tried to hold up the night clerk at the Cliff house, a fashionable summer hotel at Manitou, early today, shot and killed Night Watchman C. Whitehead and escaped to the hills.

Whitehead tried to escape through a cloak room door, but a bullet from the bandit's gun killed him. The shot roused the late guests and without attempting to secure any money or valuables, the bandit rushed through an outer door, jumped a high porch railing and disappeared.

A posse is in pursuit.

Health authorities fear an epidemic.
